Congress Closes Stalled Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress adjourned its 1965 session early this morning, winding up a dramatic, whirlwind final day by passing federal pay raise and sugar bills.

The windup seemed stalled by sparse attendance in the Senate. But in a last minute burst of activity, the sugar bill, the last obstacle to adjournment, was approved 41 to 10.

The Senate then adjourned sine die at 12:51 a.m. EDT and the House followed at 12:52 a.m.

PERSONAL THANKS

President Johnson sent personal thanks to the leaders and members for what he termed an "unusually productive" record of passing 86 administration measures. He said what Congress accomplished this year "will find a shining residence in the history books."

The Senate gave 67-0 passage to a pay increase of 3.6 per cent for 1.8 million civilian government workers — at an estimated annual cost of $641 million.

The House accepted it on a voice vote but only after considerable complaint by Republicans and some Democrats that they were knocking under to the other chamber and to President Johnson.

They yielded largely because the White House had passed the word, indirectly, that a veto awaited the much heftier increase voted earlier by the House.

Johnson had asked only a $400-million hike but the House had voted a 4 per cent increase for this year to be followed by another advance next year that would have added $1.55 billion to annual payrolls over the next two years.

The House prevailed on a key point in the other major, last-minute measure when sugar quotas were set for domestic and foreign producers for the next five years as provided in the House bill shaped by Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., of the House Agriculture Committee.

The Senate bill called for two-year quotas for foreign nations but Senate conferees yielded on this.

On the quotas for foreign nations, which supply about 35 per cent of the U.S. market, the compromise bill roughly split the differences between original House and Senate allotments.

Domestic producers received a 580,000-ton increase, designed to reduce heavy surpluses, and there was no difference of opinion on this.

The House passed the compromise 174 to 88; the Senate 41-10.

With their voting chores completed, House and Senate sent a joint committee to advise the President that Congress had completed its work unless he had further proposals. He didn't have, but sent his thanks.

What with speeches of mutual congratulation and a few hassles over secondary bills which got lost in the shuffle, it took hours into the night to quit finally.

Earlier in the day, Johnson had signed one of the most hotly disputed of the many administration measures — the Highway Beautification Act sometimes called the Lady Bird bill because of Mrs. Johnson's keen interest in it. The act provides for removal of unsightly billboards and junkyards along main highways at an estimated cost of $320 million for the first two years.

Agenda Full At Northeast Homecoming

Northeast Louisiana State College observes its 33rd Homecoming today with a full slate of activities that begin at 10 a.m. with a parade through West Monroe and Monroe.

Election of Alumni Association officers, an alumni dinner and the Homecoming game between Northeast and Gulf States Conference rival Southeastern are other highlights of the day.

Honor classes for this year's Homecoming are those of 1935, 1945, 1955 and 1965 with alumni from those years especially urged to attend.

David L. Kahn, the incumbent, and Milton E. Craighead are candidates for president of the Alumni Association, while Obed W. Kirkpatrick and Renford C. Rodgers are competing for the vice presidential post. All are from Monroe.

(Related Material Page 6A)

Board members from 15 parishes are also to be elected and several proposed changes in the Association's Articles of Incorporation will also be voted on at a business meeting at 3:45 p.m. in the new dining hall on Bon Aire Drive.

The Homecoming parade will begin on Riverside drive, will cross the Highway 80 bridge into West Monroe, turn south on Trenton Street, then come back across the old traffic bridge onto Monroe's DeSiard Street. The parade will go down DeSiard Street as far as Sixth Street, where it will disband. No regularly scheduled classes will be held at the College after 8:50 a.m. because of the parade.

Dignitaries who will take part in the parade include Northeast's president, Dr. George T. Walker and Mrs. Walker; Mayor J. Allan Norris of West Monroe; Monroe City Secretary-Treasurer Mel Cook; Northeast's deans and their wives; Alumni Association officers; Student Government Association officers; and members of the Homecoming court.

A coffee hour for alumni beginning at 3 p.m. will open the afternoon's activities in the new dining hall. The business meeting will follow at 3:45 and dinner at 5:45.

Open house for parents of Northeast students will be observed on the second floor of the College Union Building from 9 until 5 today. Members of a student organization will serve as hosts.

Pre-game activities will begin at 7:45 p.m. in Ouachita High School Stadium with the arrival of the Homecoming Queen and her court and a show by Northeast's Women's Dance and Drill Team.

Dr. Walker will welcome alumni during halftime ceremonies and the alumni president will be presented. Following a short address by the alumni president, Queen Cheryl McDonald, a freshman voice major from Ida, will be presented along with her court.

Members of the court are Maid of Honor Cristy Shaw of Coushatta, and Maids Gayle Butler of Bernice, Judy Cluchey of Morgan City, Nancy Gray of Monroe and Kathy Mooney and Shirley Nelson, both of Bastrop.

Northeast's Marching Band, under the direction of Mack Hearne, will take part in the presentation along with the Fuleers and Scabbard and Blade.

Dr. Walker will crown the queen and the singing of the College alma mater will conclude halftime activities.

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI)—The Army offered Friday to check any dolls that wives and families have received from U.S. soldiers in Viet Nam and fear they may be Communist-booby-trapped.

A spokesman at nearby Ft. Benning said the offer brought in a deluge of about 200 telephone inquiries and about 50 dolls to check.

The Army's demolition experts went to work on the dolls at once, he said. No booby traps had been found by late Friday.

gan City, Gayle Butler of Bernice, Shirley Nelson of Bastrop and Kathy Mooney, also of Bastrop. Miss McDonald, a freshman voice major from Ida, will reign over Homecoming activities at the College today.

Minden Man Arrested In Area Slaying

RUSTON (Special) — Willie F. Brewer, 42 of Minden, was charged with murder Friday by Lincoln Parish authorities in connection with the shooting of George C. Taltan, 57, of Minden, Thursday night in a Ruston motel.

Brewer was arrested by city police and later turned over to parish authorities.

George Simonton, chief deputy of Lincoln parish sheriff's department, said Brewer was being held without bond after being charged by the department with killing Taltan with a .22-caliber revolver.

According to the sheriff's office, Brewer's wife, Charity, 44, was held in the parish jail as a material witness pending completion of the sheriff's and coroner's investigations. Her bond was set at $2,500.

City police answered a call at 9:14 p.m. Thursday about the shooting and arrested Brewer at the scene.

Chief of Police O. O. Osborn said that Taltan was shot at least seven times.

Parish Coroner Robert Carter said that his report showed that Taltan died from gunshot wounds.

Brewer will be held in the parish jail until he can be brought before a grand jury.

KKK Ex-Member Was 'Threatened'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An ex-member of the Ku Klux Klan Friday pointed to a Klansman in the audience at a Congressional hearing and said he had threatened "to do away with me." The Klansman later used the Fifth Amendment when asked if he had made the statement.

Roy Woodlee, a Lexington, N.C., bricklayer and lay preacher, made the charge during testimony before the House Committee on Un-American Activities. He said Boyd Hamby, Grand Night Hawk of the North Carolina Klan, made the threat during a telephone call to him of the secret society.

REFUSED TO REPLY
A few minutes later, Hamby, also from Lexington, was called to testify and was asked by committee investigator Donald Appell if he had made the threat. He cited the Fifth Amendment in refusing to reply.

Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., told Hamby that both he and Woodlee were under oath. "One of you is subject to a perjury charge," Willis said, adding that he would not hesitate to ask the Justice Department to prosecute the case.

Hamby then invoked the Fifth Amendment 19 times in response to Appell's questions, including whether he was responsible for burning a cross on Woodlee's lawn.

After he was dismissed, Hamby told a reporter he had no comment to make on Woodlee's charge.

Woodlee was called to testify after Joseph G. DuBois dramatically announced his resignation from the North Carolina Klan as he began his testimony.

Woodlee told the committee he quit the Klan four or five weeks ago in the midst of unexplained charges leveled against him by leaders of the organization. He said during this period, he received a call from Hamby in which "he told me he had the authority to do away with me."

"The Klan should have nothing to hide," said 40-year-old Joseph G. DuBois, the first Klan witness to talk freely in four days of public hearings by the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton and James R. Jones, the North Carolina Grand Dragon, sat in silence as DuBois refused Klan leaders' earlier advice to invoke the Fifth Amendment provision against self-incrimination.

The defense intimated that Mrs. Liuzzo's passenger — a lanky, six-foot five Negro named Leroy Moton — or someone in a mysterious "little red foreign car" may have shot her.

The wage and hour division covers 1.1 million establishments with a total of 29.5 million employees under the law. Last year's investigations involved 5 per cent of the total establishments.

Labor Department investigators make spot checks into industries where they believe there may be violations. They also investigate the complaints of workers who claim they are being cheated, or complaints from employers who claim unfair competition from other firms with substandard wages.

The Labor Department has no power to enforce repayment of back wages, but a worker can file a lawsuit or the secretary of labor can sue in his behalf.

But continued violation of federal wage standards can bring criminal prosecution.

White Jury Gives Verdict In 2 Hours

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — An all-white jury took less than two hours Friday to find Ku Klux Klansman Collier Leroy Wilkins innocent of the nightrider slaying of a white civil.

The jury, including four self-avowed white supremacists, received a resounding cheer in the century-old Lowndes County Courthouse.

Ignoring the prosecution warning that "blood will flow in the streets of Hayneville" if Wilkins is acquitted, the jury found him not guilty of the slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo of Detroit.

SLAIN IN THE DARK

Mrs. Liuzzo was slain as she drove down a dark highway near here March 25, a few hours after the Selma-to-Montgomery "freedom march" ended.

Wilkins was tried first for the murder in May. The jury deliberated for part of two days, then reported itself hopelessly hung — 10-2 for conviction.

This jury deliberated an hour and 47 minutes, finishing in plenty of time for the high school football game Friday night.

Defense attorney Arthur Hanes met the departing jurors on the ground level of the courthouse, a big smile on his face.

"Thank you very much, gentlemen," he said.

State Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, who prosecuted the case himself, appeared unsurprised.

He had fought unsuccessfully at the outset of the trial Monday to have 11 members of the jury panel disqualified because they announced they felt Negroes and white civil rights workers were inferior persons.

But the state Supreme Court ruled against him and four of the 11 were eventually placed on the jury.

"Of course, we will keep trying," Flowers told reporters. Two other Klansmen, Eugene Thomas and William O. Eaton, have also been accused of murder in the slaying. There was no indication when the next trial in the case would be.

"We have only to abide by the jury's decision," Flowers said. "We prosecuted the best we could."

As Hanes, a former Birmingham lawyer, left the courtroom a local white man walked up to him and emotionally told him that "you did Alabama a great service."

Wilkins, a chubby unemployed auto mechanic, said "I have no comment. I am happy and that is all I have to say." Wilkins sat with his father and mother while the jury was out.

The prosecution, in both trials, based the weight of its case on the testimony of Gary Thomas Rowe, a paid informer for the FBI.

Towe testified he was with Wilkins, Eaton and Thomas on the night of the slaying. He told in graphic detail of a chase at 70 miles an hour and more down the highway, of how the car carrying the Klansmen pulled alongside Mrs. Liuzzo's car. He said just as Mrs. Liuzzo looked out her window, they opened fire.

The defense intimated that Mrs. Liuzzo's passenger — a lanky, six-foot five Negro named Leroy Moton — or someone in a mysterious "little red foreign car" may have shot her.

Troops Search In Jakarta For Arms

JAKARTA (UPI)—More than 3,000 troops and militiamen swept through a residential area of Jakarta Friday in a pre-dawn house-to-house search for arms and ammunition.

The search came on the eve of a speech by President-for-life Sukarno that is expected to throw some light on the confused situation in Indonesia since the unsuccessful coup Oct. 1.

Sukarno is to address a gathering of Indonesia's governors, provincial chiefs and top officials at the state palace this morning.

A full army battalion of 800 regulars, backed by 2,000 militiamen, a platoon of cavalry, armored cars and an anti-aircraft detachment, cordoned off the residential area near Jakarta's Kemajoran Airport before dawn.

In the first hours of the search, soldiers discovered a cache of uniforms and equipment sufficient for a 31-man force.

A Belgian pistol, green fatigue uniforms, canteens, knives, jungle suits and belts were found in the home of a 20-year-old youth who told authorities he had been storing equipment for a friend for the past two weeks. He said he thought it was intended for shipment to a fire department in Borneo.

Maj. Kusmajadi, former deputy commander of an army battalion whose commander was arrested during the coup, led the search in the area, where many officials of the National Garuda Indonesian Airways reside. Similar searches were reported going in other residential and industrial areas.

Earlier, the curfew that has been in effect in the greater Jakarta area since the day after the Communist-led coup to unseat Sukarno, was relaxed by two and a half hours. Sukarno consulted with top civilian and military leaders on progress in restoring security throughout the country and announced the curfew would be modified from dusk to dawn to 9 p.m. to 4:30 a.m.

After the meeting late Thursday night, Sukarno issued a general decree forbidding unauthorized demonstrations or any action "damaging our struggle." Sukarno called for the unity of all "progressive revolutionaries" and warned against destructive acts.

A wave of anti-Communist demonstrations has swept Indonesia since it became clear the Communists were deeply involved in the attempt to overthrow Sukarno, for whom, ironically, Communist China has been the strongest ally.

The three-million-member Indonesian Communist Party has been banned in Jakarta and other areas of the country and the anti-Communist army, which put down the coup, has gained considerable power.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON presents to the First Lady the first pen he used Friday in signing the $320 million highway beautification bill. In his first public ceremony since returning from the hospital, Johnson signed the bill in the East Room of the White House.

Highway Beauty Bill Is Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson gave his wife a kiss and the first pen as he signed the $320-million highway beautification bill Friday.

He solemnly pledged to stand personal vigil to preserve America's natural beauty and declared: "As long as I am President, what has been divinely given by nature will not be recklessly taken away by man."

Signing of this legislation — which had been dubbed "the Lady Bird Bill" because of his wife's interest — was Johnson's first major public ceremony since he entered the hospital two weeks ago for surgery. It came 24 hours after his return to the White House.

The East Room, with music by the Marine Band and a tea-time party in the State Dining Room, provided a pretty setting for some 200 boosters of the highway measure who had been invited.

Johnson got a long applauding welcome as he strode into the ballroom to the strains of "Hail To the Chief" looking fit.

The President's speech was filled with reference to a lifelong love of nature, and he addressed himself to "all other lovers of beauty."

He said this bill, which clamps controls on roadside billboards and junkyards, "does not represent all we want, or all we need, or all the national interest requires. But it is a first step." Johnson promised that "there will be other steps."

Lamenting that the natural beauties of America have too often been neglected in recent years, he said: "We have placed a wall of civilization between us and the beauty of our countryside — in our eagerness to expand and improve we have relegated nature to a weekend role, banishing it from our daily lives."

"I think we are a poorer nation as a result," the President said, adding: "I do not choose to preside over the destiny of this country and to hide from view what God has gladly given."

The President said firmly that "this administration has no desire to punish or penalize any private industry. But no company, no group, no organization, Johnson reported seeing "nature at its purest" as he drove home from Bethesda Naval Medical Center Thursday along the Washington Memorial Parkway.

Johnson said there is "a joy within me and my family" to sign this bill, which he predicted "will bring the wonders of nature back to our daily lives."

His wife, in a cowl-necked wine-red dress, was flanked by key members of the Senate and the House Public Works Committees that forged the bill — Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., and Rep. John C. Kluczynski, D-Ill.

Then the President and Mrs. Johnson stood to shake hands and hand out pens to congressmen, conservationists and garden clubbers who had played a role in passage of the legislation.

U.N. Will Send Officer To Visit Pakistan, India

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General U Thant announced Friday night he will send a high-ranking personal representative to India and Pakistan to try to work out an agreement for withdrawal of troops from the cease-fire line between the two.

Thant's announcement followed a call from Pakistan for an urgent meeting of the Security Council to press for a speed-up in council action on the India-Pakistani conflict over Kashmir.

"We want the council to move ahead," a Pakistani spokesman said.

Thant said in a published letter to India's Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri that he would "designate a thoroughly experienced senior officer in the United Nations family to be my representative on the matter of withdrawals."

A similar letter went to Amjad Ali, Pakistani ambassador to the United Nations.

Thant's choice for the new assignment is Maj. Gen. Syseno Sarmiento of Brazil, now commander of the emergency force on the Egyptian-Israeli border.

Thant told Shastri that efforts are under way for local military commanders to meet the U.N. observers to try to stabilize the cease-fire. He added: "It is my hope that they will meet with success."

Shastri earlier had turned down any talks on troop withdrawals until the cease-fire had been stabilized.

Thant said he would direct Sarmiento to "go to the area at an early date, to visit both capitals, and to arrange for representatives of India and Pakistan to meet at some mutually agreed place, possibly near the front lines, to seek agreement on a plan and schedule for the withdrawals by both parties."

March Of Dimes Campaign Plans Announced Here

Bert Root, campaign director of the 1965-66 March of Dimes campaign in Ouachita Parish, said final plans were approved at a meeting Thursday night for a style show, dinner, and dance, to be held at the Paragon Club Nov. 13, and the annual Mothers' March, set for Jan. 31.

Tentative plans were approved for a rodeo in the Calhoun area, and an airplane ride for one cent a pound from Selman Field.

The style show, followed by the dinner and dance, begins at 7:30 p.m. at the Paragon. Mrs. Dixie Ware is in charge of the show. Music will be presented by the Phares Corder orchestra. Tickets may be purchased from any of the council workers or from the participating stores.

Detail of the Mothers' March plans will be announced later. The Calhoun Riding Club will host the benefit rodeo, with other riding clubs in the parish to join in the effort.

Drive Scheduled For Members

The annual membership drive of L. B. Faulk Post No. 13, American Legion, which opened this week, will close with a membership barbecue on Veterans' Day, Nov. 11.

The goal of the local post calls for 200 more members before the drive is closed out. Veterans hold semi-monthly meetings on the first and third Mondays of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the American Legion Home on Forsythe Avenue, Monroe, according to Richard W. Sherman, commander of the local post.

Weapons Search In Dominican Begins

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—After a 24-hour delay, three-man teams began Friday house-to-house searches for weapons handed out at random in the April revolution.

The search, part of President Hector Garcia-Goody's plan to disarm civilians, was to have started Thursday. But Justice Department agents, angry at the presence of a military detachment in Ozama Fortress, had refused to participate.

In early afternoon, however, teams, each composed of a civilian, policeman and soldier, started going from house to house, looking into closets and behind doors.

The teams began operating in an upper-middle and middle-class neighborhood. The first hour produced no weapons, it was reported.

The delayed start underlined differences between the military and several rebel partisans serving in Garcia-Goody's Cabinet.

Atty. Gen. Manuel Ramon Morel Cerda told newsmen earlier he had pleaded with Justice Department agents to begin the search, but they had been reluctant. It was learned that Morel Cerda, in a private talk, opposed carrying out the search unless the troops left Ozama Fortress in downtown Santo Domingo. The fortress is regarded by the rebels as a shrine to the revolt.

Orders for the weapons search and seizure operation, which was to have started throughout the capital Thursday, stress that all members of the military and national police will remain confined to quarters while it is carried out.

The armed forces secretary, Commodore Francisco J. Rivera Caminero, says the fortress was and is a military establishment and that the presence of troops there complies with the presidential edict. Officials of the Organization of American States supported that view.

The rebels occupied the fortress in one of the bloodiest battles of the April revolution and later renamed it Constitution Plaza.

Federal Agents Grab Kidnaper In Dallas Bar

DALLAS (UPI) — Federal agents Friday captured fugitive kidnaper Delbert Harmon Garmon Jr., who led the law a three-week chase until an alert barmaid spotted him drinking beer.

The 26-year-old ex-convict surrendered peacefully and was hustled out of the bar to face charges ranging from kidnapping to auto theft and firing shots at his wife and a policeman. He started his wild flight from authorities Oct. 5 when his wife charged he was going to kill her.

Garmon fired shots at her and a policeman in his hometown of Wichita Falls, Tex., and took off on a cross-country flight into Oklahoma.

He was armed when captured. Officials reported he kidnapped or held hostage 20 persons. None was harmed.

Mary Baker, a 28-year-old employee of the "Diamond D" bar in Dallas noticed Garmon stroll into the bar about 1:30 p.m. The Federal Bureau of Investigation left posters in bars describing Garmon and listing the FBI phone number in Dallas.

"He ordered a beer," she said. "He wore a pair of khaki pants, a brownish sports coat, no tie and a regular shirt."

She served him a bottle of beer, calmly walked over to the juke box and put in a quarter to start the music and cover her voice on the phone. Then she dialed the FBI.

"I wasn't brave," she said. "I was scared."

But as a customer, she said, "He was nice as could be."

She said it took the FBI only a few minutes to arrive and seize Garmon before the eyes of five or six other men drinking beer at the bar.

Miss Baker was the only employee in the bar at the time.

When the FBI agents arrived, Miss Baker said she simply pointed and said, "sitting in that booth."

"The other customers didn't know what was going on until it was all over," she said.

The federal agents charged Garmon with violation of the Federal Lindbergh Kidnap Law.

Coast Guard Cracks Down On Boat Run

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — An 83-foot boat crossed the Florida Straits Friday with the biggest load of refugees yet in the exodus from Cuba and the Coast Guard announced a crackdown aimed at stopping the small boat shuttle.

The Coast Guard announced it was "now proceeding to assess penalties against boats involved in the movement from Cuba for violation of navigation laws."

FIRST TWO CASES

A spokesman said the first two cases to be taken up by a board of review will be those of two boats skippered by Americans, the Shark V and the Mistral. Both arrived Oct. 14 carrying 57 refugees between them. The Coast Guard, the spokesman said, can levy fines up to $1,000 for breach of regulations regarding charts, safety equipment and the like.

So far in the exodus, the Coast Guard has taken into custody 58 boats which have made the trip from Cuba, creating a clutter on and beside its docks here. The boats are held while each case is investigated.

The latest vessel to join the aggregation was the 83-foot Gaviota, jammed to the gunwales with refugees, many of them seafarers.

The vessel brought 89 refugees and 21 crew members from the Cuban embarkation port at Camarioca and pushed the total of exiles who have arrived to date in the exodus close to 1,200.

The Cubans leaving with Castro's permission are allowed to bring with them only a small amount of clothing — no money. What they leave behind is taken over by the government.

Some of the refugees landing insisted that the government is giving priority at the embarkation port of Camarioca to those persons who are leaving behind them the greatest amount of property.

Time To Mail For Christmas Here Already

Monroe Postmaster Woodrow M. Hathorn and West Monroe Postmaster Homer B. Roark have issued statements announcing that now is the time to begin mailing Christmas packages overseas.

Parcels sent to servicemen and civilian employees stationed in foreign countries should be mailed between now and Nov. 11, the postal officials explained.

This period applies only to packages and cards being sent by surface transportation, the postmasters said. Airmail cards and parcels should be in the mail between Dec. 1 and Dec. 10.

Those who intend to mail packages overseas should check with the post office first because certain customs declarations must be filled out and attached to the parcel before shipment.

Also, certain items are prohibited. Cigarettes, tobacco products and coffee are not accepted by certain foreign post offices, the postmasters said, and matches and lighter fluid cannot be mailed. Postal employees must comply with the regulations of the particular country involved, it was explained.

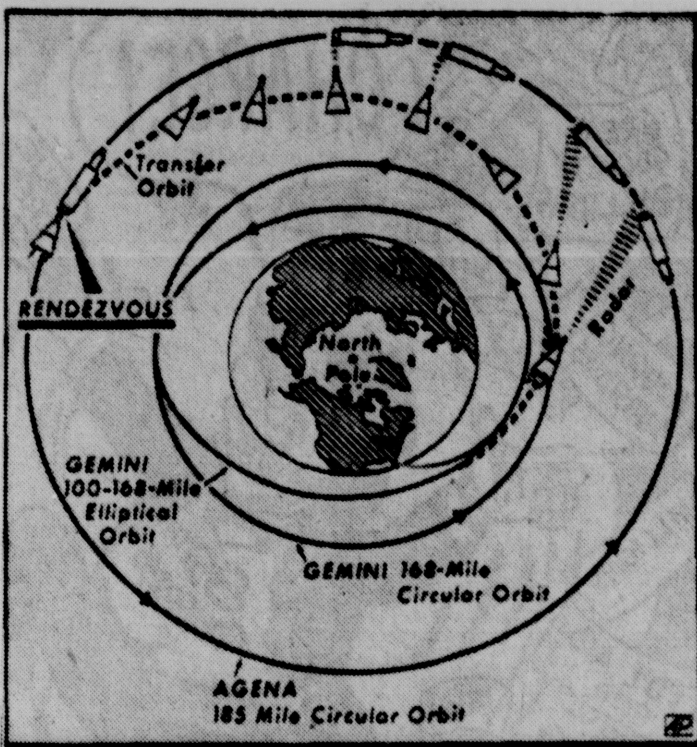

Stricter packing and wrapping requirements are enforced for articles being mailed overseas, as packages must be handled aboard ship.

Gifts should be packaged in containers or boxes of wood, metal, solid fiberboard or strong double-faced corrugated cardboard. All parcels should be wrapped in heavy paper which strengthens the package, and strong cord should be used in tying the parcel.

The postmasters recommended the following packing hints:

— Parcels that are not completely filled should be packed with "cushioning materials" to prevent the contents from rattling or knocking against each other and getting broken. This also prevents crushing.

— Each package should be accurately addressed on the outside, and the full name and address of the person to whom it is being sent should also be placed inside, in case the label is torn off or smudged. The use of ZIP code in both the return address and the address of the recipient was strongly recommended by both postmasters.

Schirra, Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford on their planned mission Monday. Gemini, launched about an hour after the Agena, will enter an elliptical orbit, inner circle, and then, maneuver to a circular orbit 168 miles high. Guided by radar and visual sightings the astronauts plan to use thrusters to transfer into the same orbit as the Agena and link up in space. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Wilson Preparing For Rhodesia Visit

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson cast aside all other business Friday in concentrated preparation for his flight to Rhodesia Sunday on his biggest gamble of his career.

British informants predicted a "rough encounter" with Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith in Salisbury.

Wilson, 49, was reported determined on a tough line with Smith in this do-or-die effort to avert a seizure of independence by the white-ruled colony in central Africa.

Wilson was expected to leave London aboard a Royal Air Force plane accompanied by Commonwealth Relations Secretary Arthur Bottomley and a party of advisers including Sir Burke Trend, secretary of the Cabinet.

Wilson worked alone Friday in the Cabinet room at No. 10 Downing St., undisturbed for hours at a time. Informants said he expects to stay in Rhodesia most of next week.

If he and Smith break the deadlock over Rhodesia's bid for independence, Wilson will have scored a tremendous personal triumph.

Wilson's gamble lies in the damage that his prestige might suffer if he has to return to London without progress toward a settlement.

Such a situation almost certainly would lead to a unilateral declaration of independence by the Smith government — a potential Commonwealth calamity that could set off a wave of black-white troubles through the African continent.

Skies Cloudy For Space Flight

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Two astronauts, tons of space machinery and globe-girdling tracking and recovery forces Friday were declared ready for Monday's planned Gemini 6 spectacular — but the weatherman hedged a bit.

Gemini 6 pilot Walter M. Schirra and copilot Thomas P. Stafford passed their final major medical examination "with flying colors," then went back to work in space — to link up with another satellite in an historic cosmic "first."

Drizzling rain drenched this giant spaceport, and Space Agency officials said meteorologists "hedged" a bit in their weather prediction for the launch.

The experts conceded they feared the possibility of sluggish clouds over the Cape Monday. But, they added, they did not believe it would be severe enough to affect the twin blasts of Gemini 6 and its Agena target satellite.

Otherwise, officials reported, all elements of the Gemini 6 mission were "ready."

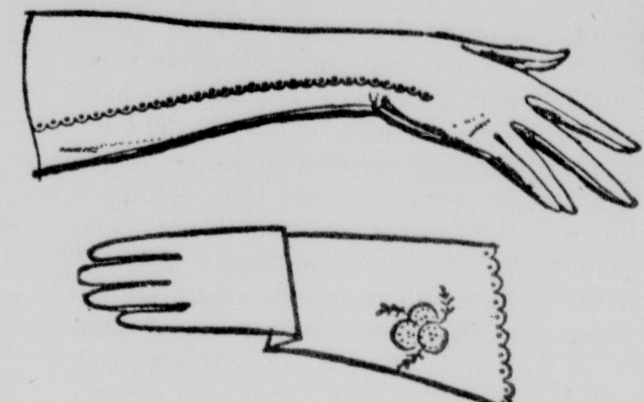

Chief Astronaut Physician Charles E. Berry said Schirra and Stafford zipped through their five-hour physical examinations "very, very well." Berry said both astronauts were in "excellent physical condition" and ready for America's most difficult manned venture into space.

The weather forecast for Monday's launching double-header was not quite so optimistic although meteorologists said the conditions were expected to be "satisfactory."

Cloudy Skies Predicted
The latest reports said mostly cloudy skies with cloud cover only 2,000 feet high were expected in the launch area Monday — a deterioration from Thursday's forecast which predicted partly cloudy skies and ceiling over 5,000 feet.

Unfinished Business

The chairman of the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee, Sen. Stennis of Mississippi, has predicted that, even if we succeed in knocking out the main elements of Communist guerrilla forces in South Viet Nam, we will have to keep U.S. forces there for 15 years or more to preserve the peace. This reminds us that it has now been over 12 years since an armistice was negotiated with the Communists in Korea. The fact that we still have a large number of U.S. troops there is a pretty good sign that Sen. Stennis knows what he's talking about.

Moreover, things aren't entirely peaceful in Korea these days, nor have they ever been since that "cease fire" was hailed as such a successful negotiation with the Communists back in 1953. There are no signs, that we know of, that the Communists in North Korea are getting ready to launch another big push across the 38th parallel. But far more significant, we think, are the recent reports of Communist guerrilla activity in South Korea, along lines very similar to Viet Cong operations in South Viet Nam. This makes sense from the Communists' point of view. The Korean venture proved that they couldn't take territory by direct frontal assault if the U.S. decides to step in and prevent it. On the other hand, their Viet Nam experience has shown so far that, even if they can't take and hold territory when the U.S. again determines to prevent it, a relatively small guerrilla force can tie up a much larger force indefinitely and cause it to waste a lot of men and materials, so long as that larger force is limited to just chasing guerrillas in its own territory.

No doubt, if we pour enough men and materials into South Viet Nam we can put a stop to most of the Viet Cong activity - so long as we keep our forces there. But, unless we do something about knocking out the enemy in his own territory, we only let ourselves in for what Mao Tse-tung called a "war of attrition," wherein our Communist enemy simply backs off and waits to strike again when our forces are relaxed or have been partially withdrawn. The unfinished business in Korea should be lesson enough that neither a "negotiated settlement" nor maintaining a large "peace keeping" force in one trouble spot after another offers any permanent solution or even a sensible approach to dealing with Communist aggression.

Black Scandal

Ordinarily, we would not think of commenting in these columns on a majority race in the nation's largest city, New York. The power struggle of big-city political machines is too involved, and too mucky underfoot for us. But, because there is an impending election to choose a new mayor for the city of New York, one of the most sickening scandals in recent history is being suppressed, and that scandal involves this community's taxpayers quite as much as New York City. As far as we're concerned, it won't wait for discussion until the politicians in New York and Washington are ready.

The fact is that Washington has spawned this disgrace through one of its monstrous poverty programs in New York City's Harlem known as HARYOU-ACT. Last week, Livingston Wingate, executive director of that organization, told the press that an armed group of Negro youths in the area is "prepared to die" in a struggle against white people. "The kids are armed and ready to move," he said, insisting that only his anti-poverty program was stopping them. But, what the executive director did not tell the press is that New York City police have identified more than three hundred of these armed Negro youths as being "employed" by HARYOU-ACT. These three hundred known recipients of weekly pay checks from government funds have been trained in the fine arts of rioting, demonstrating, looting, sabotage, assassination — and armed — by Cuban and Chinese Communist agitators. To head off a Los Angeles-type riot in New York, Washington has been paying blackmail money, weekly, to identified goons. Decent Negro voters in New York City are appalled. Police officials are desperate.

Any properly constituted Congressional Committee has only to ask for New York City Police Department files. And ask, it should. Even one additional day of paying tribute to goons out of the public treasury is one day too long.

Listen to Mr. Wingate's parting remarks to the press: "Believe me, my community is loaded with dynamite, now. These kids don't give a d— . . . I've talked to police. They're scared, they know the facts. If I tell you too much, I'll be the late Wingate."

New York City, has, by reputation, the finest city police department in the world. That department ought not to be subverted by political blackmail money paid out of the U.S. Treasury.

Freedom Steps

A freedom-of-information bill was recently passed by the Senate and this act should be of vital interest to everyone.

This was not a new measure, but an amendment to the 1946 Administrative Procedure Act. The amendment has been designed for clarification and strength.

First off, it requires Federal agencies to make their records available to the public unless specifically exempted by law. Federal district courts also would be authorized to enjoin agencies which withheld information improperly.

The down-to-Earth meaning of the amendment is that Federal officials would be restricted from stamping the "secret" label on records and information which should be in the public domain. There would be no intrusion of personal privacy, no invasion of the secret information pertaining to national defense and security. Trade secrets would not be laid open.

Experience has shown that the privilege of secrecy can be exploited for personal gain under present statute. The new law is needed to convert this experience into a protection of the public's right to know.

Senate action on the amendment leaves the matter up to the House now. House action in this waning first session of the 89th Congress is unlikely. When Congress reconvenes next January, the Senate step will be considered by the House, which also has its own version of the same bill — one which has not yet even reached the House Judiciary Committee.

This is not a headline issue. But it vitally concerns the public well-being. What the Senate started in 1965 should be finished by the House early in 1966. Big government should not be permitted to become a shield for petty private domains, smothered in illicit secrecy. That is the intent of the amendment which quietly eased through the Senate this week.

Anyone who depends upon newspapers to act as watchdogs of the public interest would be well advised to take a personal interest in enactment of the freedom-of-information amendment.

The autumn leaves march across the hills like an army bright with banners and with the added advantage that no politician can claim credit for them.

It makes us feel rather humble that, as a child, we played with toys too inexpensive to be advertised on television.

Ask Financial Accounting

Cost Of Year-Long Inquiry Not Given

WASHINGTON — The four congressional members of the special commission that investigated the assassination of President Kennedy are asking for a financial accounting of the year-long inquiry.

No report has ever been submitted to the seven-member commission — which formally concluded its work in September 1964.

The bipartisan group of legislators (two Democrats, two Republicans) decided, after discussing the matter for some time, that a detailed financial accounting should be presented and made part of the official records of the commission.

It was their understanding this would be done before the commission disbanded. But for some unclear reason, nothing came of that.

So in identical letters to Chief Justice Earl Warren, chairman, and Lee Rankin, general counsel, who was solicitor general in the Eisenhower administration, the four congressional leaders have requested that the commission be reconvened for the express purpose of receiving and acting on a comprehensive financial statement.

They also proposed that an announcement be issued on the final disposition of the huge mass of documents, transcripts, exhibits and other material, and their availability for study by authorized individuals. This also has never been done.

All the commission's records are in the custody of the U.S. Archives, on historic Pennsylvania Avenue halfway between the Capitol and the White House.

The legislators are Senators Richard Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee; John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., former ambassador to India; Representatives Hale Boggs, D-La., majority whip, and Gerald Ford, R-Mich., minority leader.

In addition to Chief Justice Warren, the other members are Allen Dulles, former head of the Central Intelligence Agency, and John McCloy, one-time chief of the World Bank.

BACKSTAGE "FINANCIAL STATEMENT" — On May 5 of this year, this column disclosed that the commission's year-long investigation had cost $1.2 million.

Biggest single expenditure was $556,500 for printing. Second largest expenditure was $225,650, for "salaries and related benefits."

This information was contained in an unpublished "financial statement" compiled by the budget division of the General Services Administration.

There was no indication of the source of the $1.2 million in the GSA report. It was authoritatively understood the money came from contingency funds available to President Johnson — who initiated the investigation and appointed the seven members.

The complete GSA "financial statement" was as follows:

Direct Expenses
Salaries and related benefits, $225,650; Travel and related expenses, $67,441; Equipment rental, $13,332; Space rental and security guarding — Commission headquarters, $47,223; Payment to General Services Administration for administrative support, $9,000; Payments to Civil Service Commission for security investigations of Commission employees, $8,225; Payment to Department of Defense for photographic services, $4,000; Commercial contractual services, $17,192; Communications, $14,538; Supplies and materials, $5,488.

Total $442,089.
Other Expenses
Air - conditioning Commission headquarters (Excess of normal work day) $7,539; Travel and related expenses of witnesses, $16,267; Transcript expenses, $72,474; Printing; Reproduction, $68,500; Reimbursement for detail from Government Printing Office, $48,000.
Total $752,780.

Contingencies $5,131.
GRAND TOTAL $1,200,000.

The GSA report notes that "expenses of personnel detailed to the commission from other government agencies are not included in the above figures."

The FBI did a great deal of such work for the investigation. Commission sources have indicated that Rankin received around $35,000 as general counsel.

A BEST SELLER — The commission's 888 - page report is still in popular demand.

New Facts On Earth Costly

SLICING EARTH'S CRUST — Plans for learning new facts about the earth's structure are talked of in terms of millions of dollars now, instead of billions spent on the moon project, but final cost is a guess. Operation Mohole, the purpose of which is to cut through the estimated six miles of the earth's crust to its solid mantle, is believed by many scientists to be the most important single geological investigation ever attempted. Studies and preparations for the project have already cost more than $37,000,000. National Science Foundation, an independent Federal agency, had been expected to award before October 10 a contract for an oceanic platform from which the drilling is to be done. But the bids were very much higher than had been expected, running from $29,900,000 to $45,500,000. Site selected for the first drilling is in the Pacific Ocean about 100 miles northeast of Maui in the Hawaiian Islands, where the water depth is 14,000 feet and the estimated depth through earth's crust to its mantle is an estimated 30,000 feet. Why was the ocean with all its hazards and difficulties chosen instead of land for the drilling? Earth's crust is figured to be around 6 miles under sea as compared with a 25-mile thickness from land level. Some of the questions expected to be answered by Project Mohole are: How old the oceans are and how they became filled with water; whether the earth is getting hotter or cooler and facts about its origin. The complete project may give some clues as to how life on earth began.

WINDFALL FOR TITO — The United States has stacks of the currency of other nations. It is called "soft money" because it cannot be taken out of these countries, although we can spend a portion of it within their boundaries. The money has been accumulating since 1954 when Congress passed Public Law 480, which has as its purpose the disposal of surplus farm products. All the soft money we hold in dollar rate of exchange is around $5,000,000,000, more than a third of it in India. There is around $500,000,000 in Poland. Third in amount is Tito's Yugoslavia — $266,004,000. That which we have in Yugoslavia has lost 84 per cent of its value as a result of the devaluation of the dinar, money unit of that country. Senator Frank J. Lausche, Democrat, Ohio, explained to the Senate as of October 1 of this year, the Government Printing Office has sold more than 142,000 copies for a total of $444,418. Significantly, of these sales, 116,164 were hard cover at $3.25; 26,754, paperback at $2.50.

In addition, the GOP has sold 1,684 sets of the 26-volume hearings at $76 a set, for a total of $127,984.

Over-all total of these sales is $572,402.

In addition, 8,250 complete sets of findings and hearings were distributed free. This has never been officially revealed.

Similarly undisclosed is the fact that the allocation of these give-aways was made by McGeorge Bundy, highly influential foreign affairs assistant of the President. How and why the former Harvard dean was designated to do this is unknown.

EMPTY GESTURE — Congress is on the verge of adjourning, but the Committee on Standards and Conduct, set up by the Senate early this year as a direct outgrowth of the sensational Bobby Baker disclosures, is still little more than a title.

It has neither a chairman nor a staff, and has done nothing.

In late August, at the repeated insistence of Senator John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., whose resolution created the committee, a meeting finally was held. But outside of a general discussion about the scope and functions of the body, nothing was done.

Owing to the illness of Senator Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., selection of a chairman was postponed — and still remains unfinished business.

Cooper has again repeatedly sought a meeting, but without results. Senator John Stennis, Miss., senior Democrat, has been heavily occupied with running the Armed Services Preparedness Committee. As a consequence, he has lacked the time to convene the "Ethics Committee" — as it is popularly known.

When and if it will meet and organize is anyone's guess. It could well be not until Congress reconvenes next January!

Other committee members are Senators Mike Monroney, D-Okla., Wallace Bennett, R-Utah; James Pearson, R-Kans.

Communists Still In Key Positions

WHEN ROBERT F. Kennedy became Attorney General, one of his first acts was to dismember the Justice Department's Internal Security Division. Specialists in evaluating and prosecuting subversive cases were assigned to other divisions, until Internal Security was thoroughly skeletonized. The training of new experts in this touchy area of Communist subversion ceased almost entirely. Those who remained in the division realized that they were in a legal backwater.

Mr. Kennedy's motives were undoubtedly of the highest. His logic can be questioned. For what he believed, along with the Liberal-left wing of the Democratic Party and its Lindsayite Republican supporters, was that the Communists were no longer a menace to the United States, domestically speaking. It was loudly argued that there were no longer any Communists in the Federal government — a point that could hardly be defended — and that the Communist apparatus had been shattered.

Fears of Communist subversion and espionage were considered to be the exclusive property of "extremists" and their ilk. Except for Senator Joe McCarthy and his "methods" there would have been no "hysteria" in the land, no Red "witch hunts" or guilt by association. So, in any case, it was indicated by the Justice Department.

Now Attorney General Nicholas deB. Katzenbach has suddenly discovered that the Communists have been with us all along. The laws on treason, subversion, and internal security — dead letters since 1961 — have acquired new significance for him. The catalyst, of course, has been the demonstrations against American acts in defense of South Viet Nam in its struggle to maintain its independence.

THE BRUTAL and cynical invasion of that country by the North Vietnamese Red regime, egged on primarily by Peking but with tacit Soviet support, never stirred up the marching gangs of beatniks, self-proclaimed pacifists, and the various kinds of Communists. Legitimate efforts by the United States, in which American soldiers and Marines are fighting and dying at the hands of ruthless guerrillas, become for this raggle-taggle a crime against humanity.

This modus operandi, in which disorganized groups are molded into a destructive political movement, is well-known. We saw it operate repeatedly during the Thirties and Forties. Last week's demonstrations, openly supported by the Students for a Democratic Society, are — as the Attorney General noted — a clear indication that we are seeing the sordid past repeating itself. "There are some Communists involved in it," Mr. Katzenbach has said — a supreme understatement.

BUT THE SDS, as an instrument of the Communist conspiracy, has gone beyond other moves of its kind. It has frankly welcomed Trotskyist, Peking, and Moscow Reds into the fold, and they have given the movement its aggressive character. The old excuse that the demonstrations can be written off as misguided idealism just doesn't wash. As the Washington Post, a formidable voice of liberalism, points out, the demonstrations will encourage the Viet Cong and the other Communist forces in Viet Nam to prolong the conflict. And that means the death of more men, both American and Vietnamese, in bloody fighting.

Sadly, the attorney General will have to begin from scratch. The Internal Security Division will have to start from scratch in its investigations. The FBI will be called in, but its agents have been too busy trying to cope with an overload of work in other areas. The Justice Department in the past years has frowned on what it considers FBI director J. Edgar Hoover's obsession with Communist subversion. The lawyers steeped in the evidence of subversion necessary to carry out the prosecutions Mr. Katzenbach now calls for just are not there.

IT IS ironical, too, that the House Un-American Activities Committee, which began a painstaking investigation of its own a long time back, was hampered in its work by the ridicule and open enmity of the Administration. It turned up enough leads to worry those of us who are not so complacent about the activities of Communists in our midst. Followed up, those leads would have been invaluable at this time. The pundits, who have yet to speak up against the SDS, can now know what their vendetta against the committee accomplished.

In this battle, however, the small victory of an I-told-you-so is meaningless and unimportant. The Viet Nam demonstrations have finally alerted the Attorney General. Through him, they will alert the American public. What is needed now is a thoroughgoing investigation — not merely for litigation in the courts, but in order to get the whole story with its many nuances into the public prints. The mechanism for this is a congressional committee, and no committee is better suited for this purpose than the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

But it will act only if it is sure the electorate is behind it. And that, dear reader, is your job.

Auto Sales Head For Record Year

THE U.S. automobile industry is heading for another 9,000,000 - plus sales year. 1966 already is shaping up as the fifth boom "back-to-back" year for autos.

The blistering fourth quarter production schedule reflects the optimism of the automakers for 1966, "Ward's Quarterly" will say in its fall issue next month. The magazine also will forecast "an intermediate size car market explosion in the '66 model year" — with a full 25 per cent of the all-time record production of 2,631,200 U.S. passenger cars scheduled for the October-December quarter to be in the nine car makes with the 115-117-inch wheelbase.

"The current rate of new automobile buying plans we're measuring projects to well over a 9,000,000 new model year for new cars," the market analysis firm of Sindlinger & Co. reports in its latest survey. Sindlinger estimates auto buying plans for the next six months at 7½ per cent ahead of this time a year ago — and last year's buying plans became this year's peak sales.

A 9,000,000 auto sales year has become a new "normal," emphasizes James M. Dawson, economist for the National City Bank of Cleveland. This total of sales would absorb about 6 per cent of our after-tax personal incomes, "a reasonable share" of our disposable incomes and comparing with the 6.29 per cent we've spent on "autos and parts" in 1965, the 5.92 per cent we spent in 1964.

It will be a year of intense competition, the awesome fourth quarter production schedule makes this a certainty. "Even General Motors sources privately admit the competition will be tough," says "Ward's Quarterly," adding, "Each of the auto makers will pretty well know their market position by the time the fourth quarter schedule is eaten up."

THIS, OF COURSE, is far more than a simple story about a single industry. The auto industry pervades our economy. One of every six businesses in our country is automotive and the motor transport industries account for one of every seven jobs in the U. S. By itself, the auto industry helps determine the degree of activity and prosperity in industries ranging from steel to glass, from rubber to upholstery fabric, from aluminium to radios. The forces telegraphing another great auto year are both fundamental and powerful (barring an unforeseen catastrophe at home or abroad.)

Personal incomes are climbing month after month to unparalleled highs, most middle-income families are in a comparatively comfortable debt position and, while credit is not as easy as it was a few years ago, auto installment loans are not hard to get.

Consumer confidence is very high and "trading up" is as abundantly obvious in the auto industry as it is in almost every other sphere. The amount of optional luxury equipment available to car buyers is dazzling and auto buyers are buying the equipment with enthusiasm. Today's intermediate size car represents yesterday's compact. The compact has long since been "decompacted."

JUNKING of old cars is backing up both the new and used car markets. About 6,000,000 jalopies are to be scrapped in 1966 — and yet close to 50 per cent of all autos on our roads will be seven years old or older.

The trend toward multi-car ownership is strong and getting even stronger. In millions of homes from coast to coast — particularly where there are teenagers — less than two cars is an actual hardship. There are also millions more of us in the prime car-buying years.

Larry W. Seab Cites Beliefs On United Fund

The Ouachita Parish United Givers Fund campaign is now underway — raising funds to help the less fortunate in our area. It is a job for all. Won't you help like:

He says: "Ouachita parish is fortunate to have such agencies as Carolyn Ross Strauss Rehabilitation Center, Monroe Area Guidance Center, and the Ouachita Association for Retarded Children."

"I am a 'Fair Share' giver to the United Givers Fund because of its support to such agencies and the others in the 13-member group which make up the Ouachita Parish UGF."

Seab is purchasing agent for Northeast Louisiana State College.

Jes 'Ramblin' Glinting Plaque

That glinting object catching the sun's rays these days on the front of the Ouachita Parish School Board office building is the newly installed plaque, which sort of makes the facility official.

The plaque, bolted on the wall outside, bears the names of all 19 board members, the superintendent, the contractor and the architect.

The board moved into the building several months ago. Open house is set for Sunday, Nov. 7.

Complete Training

Two Navy buddies, formerly employed in Monroe, Jan Hinkle and Freddy Walker, have completed their recruit training at San Diego, Calif., and have been assigned to the Landing Ship Dock, the U.S.S. Carter Hale, out of Long Beach, assigned to the Landing Ship, LST-1161, originally of Rayville.

Nuclear Field

Prior to reporting to a U.S. Navy submarine for nuclear training, Donald Neese, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Neese of 113 Mauldin Dr., West Monroe, will be assigned to machinist school at Great Lakes Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill. Neese is a graduate of West Monroe High School.

In Viet Nam

T.Sgt. Lawrence A. Alderman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Stennett of Rt. 3, West Monroe, is now in Viet Nam in the fight against communist aggression. Sgt. Alderman, a radar technician, is a member of the Pacific Air Forces, the nation's combat air arm guarding the 10,000-mile Bamboo Curtain.

The sergeant attended Ouachita Parish High School.

So Rare

Rarity piled on rarity at the last two meetings of the Ouachita Parish School Board.

At the first meeting, for the first time in over three years, there were no new teachers hired, resignations accepted or leaves or transfers granted — in brief, no personnel action to be transacted.

And then, at the last meeting, the same thing happened again — that is, nothing happened.

People must be satisfied where they are.

Wide-Eyed Scouts

There'll be some wide-eyed Cub Scouts next week, you can bet. The Ouachita Sheriff's Department is giving a demonstration Tuesday at 3:30 p.m., for Cub Scouts from Ouachita and Caldwell Parishes, of police dog work.

The show is slated for the sheriff's hangar at Selman Field. One of the department's dogs will be put through his paces for the young watchers.

Young Huntress

Young Wanda Jones is quite a huntress — well, in a way. Actually, she's sort of a pacifist huntress.

Birds are her specialty. Not to kill them, you understand. Wanda packs a BB gun, which gives some idea of her blood lust, in itself. But more than this, she shoots for the branch where her feathered friends are perched, professing to "love to see them fly away."

Wanda is a secretary at the local Boy Scout office.

Not Hobbling

No longer hobbling is Wanda Jones, principal of the parish's Lenwil School.

He had some bad days though, until recently when his broken left foot finally healed.

The principal got excited over a victory by one of the school's ball teams, he says, and turned his foot accidentally, breaking a bone.

Athletics, it seems, can sometimes be more hazardous for spectators.

Home Again

Home from the hills — or, more correctly, the plains — of South Dakota with a full game bag Friday was West Monroe Police Chief Johnny Mitchell.

The chief and a party of seven returned from a week's trip to the bird hunting country.

Tax Collection For Claiborne Is Underway

HOMER (Special) — Claiborne parish sheriff's department has started collecting the state and parish ad valorem taxes, according to J. R. Oakes, office deputy.

The 1965 tax roll, recently delivered by the Claiborne Parish tax assessor's office, calls for the collection of a total of $911,983.74, which is less than the 1964 tax bill of $967,091.57.

The first of three homestead exemption checks amounting to $51,434.46, one-third of the total amount to be paid by January 1, 1966, has been collected.

Oakes stated that there were 6,600 taxpayers in Claiborne parish with 3,426 taxpayers participating in homestead exemption.

The total assessed valuation as fixed by the Louisiana Tax commission for all assessment purposes is $23,097,870. All tax-

Dodd Points Up Importance Of Schooling Youth

GRAMBLING (Special) — That the money spent for educating the youths in this state is an investment which will bring a tenfold dividend, was the hallmark of an address by State Superintendent of Education, William J. Dodd Friday at Grambling College Main Auditorium.

The chief of education was main speaker at the opening of the 15th annual of the Alice G. Blalock Conference honoring one of the state's outstanding educators for over 35 years.

Citing the aims of the education department, Dodd added that teachers should get the best tools with which to do a superlative job in educating our youths, but his office as but an agency which coordinates the various parish systems into working towards the same goal. Therefore, he added, the teachers must alert his office regarding their needs in the classroom.

On the demonstrations against the national government's Viet Nam policy, he deplored the fact that youngsters are burning draft cards in a time of crisis, but on an optimistic note he added that the nation should not es become delinquent on January 1, 1966.

be too much alarmed about the isolated actions of a few so called "pacifists."

Response to the address was delivered by Morelle Emmons, Lincoln Parish Education Superintendent.

Others present at the convocation included L. L. Kilgore, retired State Supervisor of Education, Dr. Dan Fulmer, Oregon System of Higher Education, Portland; Dr. J. B. Jones, Dean of Students, Texas Southern University, Houston; Dr. R. E. E. Jones, Grambling president; Dr. Earl L. Cole, Dean of the College, Grambling and a delegation from the State Department, Baton Rouge.

It was Dodd's second visit in as many years to the conference.

Alumni To See Evidence Of Northeast Growth

Enrollment Increase Pushes Construction

Alumni returning to the campus for Northeast Louisiana State College's 33rd Homecoming today will see new evidence of how much their alma mater is growing.

Since the last homecoming, Northeast has opened two new buildings, construction has begun on three more and work on a fourth — the new science mathematics building — will begin soon.

For the past 10 years Northeast has been in the midst of a building program that has attempted to keep pace with the College's rapidly rising enrollment. Northeast's enrollment has more than tripled in 10 years and almost doubled in the last five, reaching 5,140 this fall.

At present, 72 per cent—21—of Northeast's buildings are only 10 years old or less.

Residence halls and dining facilities to meet the demands of rising enrollment have received high priority in the College's building program. Included in the 21 buildings 10 years old or less are all but one of the College's residence halls and Northeast's housing facilities are among the most modern anywhere.

Opened this fall were a new men's residence hall, which houses 408 students, and a dining hall which will accommodate 1,600 diners. Both buildings are located on the College's new campus area across Bayou De Siard.

All of the new residence halls constructed since 1960 have suite-type rooms with adjoining baths, spacious lounges, snack kitchens, self-service laundries and are fully air-conditioned. The newest are also equipped with "piped-in" music, intercom systems and facilities for private telephones.

Residence halls and dining facilities built in recent years are financed by the issuance of revenue bonds to private enterprisers and not by tax money.

RESIDENCE HALLS

Under construction now are two residence halls — one for 432 men and the other for 400 women — and a cafeteria. When the residence facilities are completed next fall, Northeast will be able to accommodate 3,000 resident students.

The $1,119,400 men's dormitory is located on Bon Aire Drive. The $1,131,000 women's residence hall is located on Hippolite Street and College Avenue across from Sander Library.

The cafeteria is being built on Bayou Drive between Monroe and Nicholson Halls. Cost of the building is $286,617 while cost of its fixed kitchen equipment is $80,584.

To be located on College Avenue between Garrett Hall and Brown Stadium, the new science-mathematics building will house the departments of Physics, Geology and Mathematics and numerous pieces of modern equipment. One of the major features of the building will be its modern foreign languages laboratory with recording facilities that will enable students to listen to a foreign language and also record their own voices speaking the language.

Bids on the building were accepted by the State Bond and Building Commission Oct. 13 and it is expected to be completed in time for the opening of school next fall.

Part of the science-mathematics building will rest on the football field and track in Brown Stadium and will make necessary the removal of the stadium to a site across Bayou De Siard. Architects are nearing completion of plans for the relocation of the stadium as well as improvements on the sports facility, a $400,000 project.

Among the most impressive buildings constructed at Northeast in the past five years are the College Union Building, built in 1962, and Sander Library, completed the following year.

The beautiful College Union Building greatly increased the number of recreational facilities available on campus for students. Included in the building are an eight-lane bowling alley, a small auditorium, a game room, hi-fi and television rooms, commuter lounges, a barber shop, beauty shop and other facilities.

LIBRARY SPACE

Sander Library provides space for 150,000 volumes and can accommodate more than 850 students at a time. In addition to its spacious stacks, the library provides conveniently located carrels, microfilm reading equipment, audio-visual facilities, well lighted study and browsing areas, public typing rooms and a rare books collection.

Nearly all materials are on open shelves to which students and faculty have access.

In addition to the science-mathematics building, other construction scheduled to begin soon at Northeast includes the building of a traffic bridge across Bayou De Siard. The $216,713.68 bridge will be an extension of Hippolite Street.

Northeast's new buildings are creating the need for more land and in an effort to meet this need a number of Monroe and West Monroe civic leaders formed the Northeast Louisiana Land Corporation this summer.

The non-profit corporation will purchase land in the vicinity of the College from individual land owners when they are interested in selling and then sell the land to the State Board of Education for Northeast's use. Members of the corporation will serve without pay and will receive no profits from the land transactions.

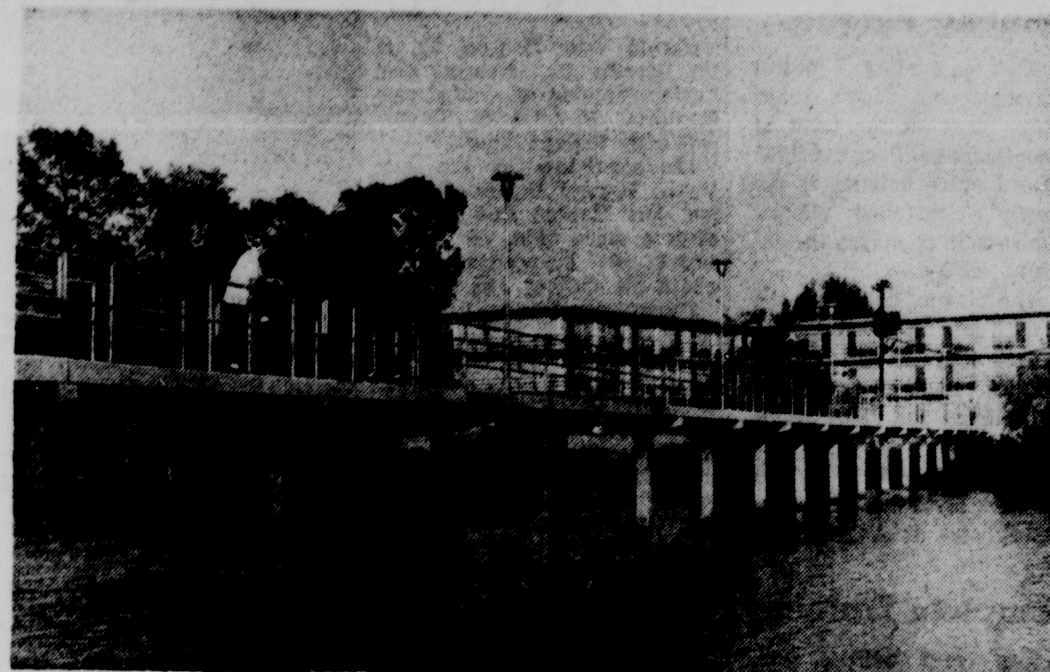

G. L. Morgan is president of the corporation, Jack Masur is vice president and the secretary treasurer is Fred Fudickar Jr. The land company is expected to help Northeast continue to expand to meet the challenge of its increasing enrollment and services.

Glove Factory Head Selected

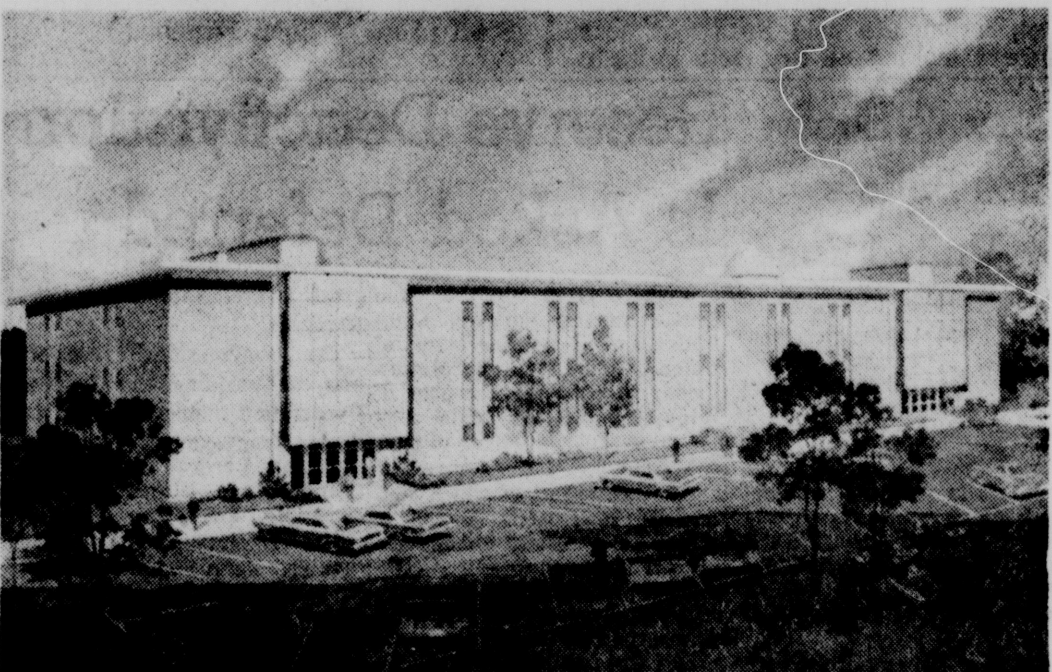

OAK GROVE (Special)—Ivan W. Hammond, presently assistant manager of the McGehee, Ark. plant of Wells Lamont Corp., will be manager of the new Wells Lamont glove factory when it is constructed in Oak Grove.

A native of Missouri, Hammond has been with Wells Lamont Corp. since 1937 and has served in the supervisory capacity for 20 years of that time.

He is a veteran of service with the Army Air Force during World War II. He is married and the father of one son.

EXPANDING NORTHEAST Louisiana State College celebrates its 33rd Homecoming today and among the new facilities old grads will see are the foot bridge across Bayou De Siard (upper left), which was finished last spring, and the new men's residence hall (upper right), opened this fall on Bon Aire Drive. A traffic bridge will be built across the Bayou soon. At lower left is the construction site of a women's residence hall at the corner of Hippolite Street and College Avenue. The residence hall will house 400 students. At lower right is an artist's drawing of the new science-mathematics building which will be ready for occupancy next fall. The science-mathematics buildings, to be built on College Avenue, will house the departments of Physics, Mathematics, Geology and a modern foreign languages laboratory. A vast construction program has remade the face of the Northeast campus in the past 10 years as the College has attempted to keep pace with its rising enrollment, which reached 5,140 this fall.

Tree Rests On Sunken Barge At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The next step in preparing a sunken barge laden with chlorine for lifting from the Mississippi River was to place thick steel cables beneath it, a spokesman said Friday.

Target date for a raising the barge, which sank during the passage of Hurricane Betsy, was Nov. 1.

Meanwhile, it was revealed a large "swell-biped old tree" rests across pipes connecting the paired tanks on each end of the barge.

John W. Anderson, Army Corps of Engineers spokesman, said the tree had been there all along.

"We will just hook a derrick onto it," Anderson said, "and take it right off there. It is leaning up, stuck in the mud on one side. We will extract it like a baby tooth."

Went Too Far

BELO HORIZONTE, Brazil (AP) — Churchill de Gaulle Longou Moulin thinks his father went too far in his admiration for World War II figures. Petitioning to legally drop "De Gaulle" from his name, he told the Municipal Court at Mendes Pimentel that "De Gaulle" is peculiarly unsuited to the Brazilian-Portuguese tongue, and he has never heard it pronounced naturally.

Man Exchanges $160 For Wallet

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A 74-year-old man called back a robber Friday and exchanged $160 for an empty wallet the thief had just taken from him.

Joseph Goldenhersh of suburban University City said when he bent over to get keys he dropped, the man grabbed his wallet out of his pocket and ran. "There's no money in the wallet," Goldenhersh called.

"Here's $160." The robber returned, exchanged the billfold for money Goldenhersh carried in another pocket, and ran.

United Fund Contributions Aid Thousands

United Fund contributions from across the United States are helping thousands of Louisianians who are the victims of Hurricane Betsy, according to Walter Bentrup, who has just returned from four weeks helping disaster victims through the American Red Cross.

In Orleans and surrounding parishes, more than 200,000 victims received early care and shelter services from the Red Cross, he said. By Oct. 15 almost 33,000 families had applied for these services and over $7 million had already been committed.

These families are now being visited in their homes to determine their clothing and household furnishing needs and repairs. Before completion, the Red Cross may spend in excess of $16 million.

Despite the fact that the Red

Cross has brought in 800 of its own employees and persons on loan from other social service agencies over the nation and has had the help of hundreds of volunteers, the major part of the work will not be completed before the end of the year or later, Bentrup pointed out.

"If ever the contributor needs to regard his United Fund pledge seriously that time is now since the American Red Cross is one of the United Fund agencies. Part of your pledge will go to the disaster services of the Red Cross and other agencies such as the Salvation Army. The Red Cross alone will expend more money in Louisiana on Hurricane Betsy damage than the combined total of all United Fund contributions in Louisiana for several years," according to Bentrup.

"If a natural disaster of the same scope as Betsy should hit the Twin Cities, each of our homes and our possessions probably would be damaged or destroyed. The disaster agencies would stand ready to help you. How would you feel if you had not given your fair share or more to the United Fund?"

West Monroe Takes 2nd Straight AAA Tie

By JIM MATHIS
World Sports Writer

Two brilliant quarterbacks duelled in the cold night air Friday and continuously brought a crowd of 5,000 at Rebel stadium to its feet as West Monroe and Bastrop battled to a 27-27 tie.

It was the second straight tie for the Rebels who fought to a 20-20 deadlock with Woodlawn last week.

Ronnie Wiggins, Rebel general, and Jimmy Gilbert, Ram shepherd, either scores or passed for seven of the game's eight touchdowns.

Wiggins tallied on runs of two and 15 yards while passing for touchdowns of 10 and four yard lengths.

Gilbert reached paydirt on three quarterback sneaks of short yardage.

Bastrop rode behind Gilbert during a 13 point second half rally to tie the game after finding itself trailing 27-14 with 10:20 left to play in the third quarter.

The Rams were the first to find gold country when Gilbert plunged into the endzone from a yard out with 1:29 remaining in the first stanza.

Wain Reily, Bastrop halfback, set up the score with an interception and return that left the pigskin on the Rebels' 35 yard line.

The Rams used four plays and a 15 yard personal foul penalty against West Monroe to score. Reily kicked the extra point as Bastrop jumped off to a 7-0 lead.

Two series later, the Rebs were heading for paydirt after David Adcock, 168 pound guard, recovered a Ram fumble at Bastrop's ten yard line.

Wiggins ran eight yards on a sprint out and then plunged the final two yards to collect the six points. The 175 pound West Monroe pilot booted the extra point to knot the score at 7-7 with 9:24 left to play in the first half.

The Rebels stopped the next Bastrop drive and took over at their own 46 yard line which was the starting point of their second touchdown drive.

Wiggins, who completed 9 of 19 pass attempts for 133 yards during the night, was again instrumental in the 54 yard scoring drive.

The senior signal caller hurled three passes totaling 49 yards to set up the tally and then tossed a ten yard golden strike to Randy Russell who dove into the endzone to score.

The key play of the drive was a pass - lateral play that covered 25 yards. Wiggins tossed to his ace flanker back Floyd

Reeves who had gone about ten yards downfield and turned back towards the line of scrimmage. Reeves caught the hook pass and made a quick, perfect lateral to Russell who had been trailing him. Russell, 197 pounds, then flashed down to the

Demons Seek 5th Win In Shreveport

Northwestern State College shoots for its fifth straight victory of the season tonight when the Demons tangle with Louisiana Tech in the annual State Fair Stadium classic in Shreveport. Kickoff is set for 8 p.m.

A crowd of more than 25,000 is expected to be on hand for the game that has become North Louisiana's biggest football spectacular.

Billy Laird, All-Gulf States Conference quarterback last season, will be calling the signals for the Bulldogs, while Northwestern head coach Jack Clayton is expected to go with his freshman quarterback, Donald Guidry.

Guidry, who has played in only two college games, has completed 14 of 26 passes for 240 yards and four touchdowns. He took over the Demon piloting chores when regular quarterback Donnie Carroll was sidelined with rib injuries.

Laird, called by Clayton "one of the best passers in the south" threw for nine touchdown passes last season while the Bulldogs were rolling to a 9-1 record and the Gulf States Conference championship.

Northwestern leads the conference in total offense with an average of 253 yards a game. Tech, fourth in total offense, leads the loop in passing offense with an average of 181 yards a contest.

The Bulldogs have a rugged defense, and Clayton has been polishing his offensive attack this week in hopes of penetrating the big Tech line.

If passing and running gets rough, Clayton might be able to fall back on the reliable foot of senior kicking specialist Wayne Walker of Bossier City.

Walker is Northwestern's leading scorer with 20 points on four field goals and eight extra points. He has punted for a 39.8 average this season. Walker has kicked a field goal in each of the Demons' four games.

A bright spot in the Northwestern defense is safety Al Dodd. The fleet-footed junior from West Jefferson has picked off seven enemy passes this season for 151 yards and a touchdown. His speed and alertness might help the Demons overcome the tremendous throwing ability of Laird.

Dick Reding, a junior end from Bossier City, has been one of the Demons' best performers this season, playing offensively and defensively. The big terminal has caught 11 passes for three touchdowns.

Bastrop 15 yard line.

The Rebs scored on the Wiggins - Russell pass four plays later and the West Monroe quarterback added the extra point and two minutes and ten seconds later the hosts went into their dressing room with a 14-7 lead.

West Monroe returned from the intermission and recovered their kickoff when a Ram fumbled at his own 38.

The Rebs scored their third time six plays later when Wiggins hit Russell with a four yard look - in pass. When Wiggins missed the extra point, the score stood at 20-7 with 8:42 left in the third stanza.

West Monroe stopped the ensuing drive by the Rams on its own four yardline where Adcock recovered another Bastrop fumble.

But the Rebs fumbled on their first play and the Rams took over again at the four. Gilbert scored three plays later on a sneak and with the extra point added the score went to 20-14 with 1:04 left in the third period.

Wiggins scored for the Rebs on a 15 yard jaunt in the third period and kicked the extra point to punch the scoreboard the last time for West Monroe with 10:20 remaining in the game.

Reily scored on the first play from scrimmage after the kickoff on a 57 yard sweep around end. The Rebels blocked the extra point attempt to make the score 27-20 just 17 second after they had scored.

The Rams scored the tying tally after a 68 yard drive that required 12 plays. Gilbert sneaked over for the touchdown and Reily booted the extra point to knot the score with 3:33 left to be played.

A Wiggins pass was intercepted by Ronnie Grimmett, Ram fullback to dim the Rebels hopes and then two exchanges of the ball left the score tied.

Wiggins ran for 92 yards to lead the Rebels' ground game.

Neville Tops Bossier 20-0

BOSSIER CITY (Special) — Neville in upping its season mark to 3-3 was given a battle steady running of Fred Amman and expert signal calling of Doug Cookston, spoiled Bossier's homecoming Friday night with a 20-0 District 1-AAA victory.

Bossier, which is suffering one of its worst seasons in recent years, fell to 2-5 for the year.

Neville promptly let it be known at the game's beginning that it intended to spoil the homecoming and with 1:10 remaining in the opening quarter, it began with the first touchdown of the game.

Amman, who rounds out at 145 pounds as a halfback, and Mike Kilcoyne, provided the punch which gave the Tigers the necessary yardage for victory.

Quarterback Cookston, who piloted the club with much precision, scored one touchdown on a 10 yard run in the fourth period. He was on the firing end of a Kilcoyne touchdown pass from 16 yards out in the first quarter.

Amman scored the final touch-

HAYNESVILLE (Special) — Jonesboro - Hodge opened defense of its district 2-AA championship with a convincing 33-0 victory over Haynesville here Friday night.

Halfback James Early and quarterback Randy Phillips teamed to give the Tigers all the scoring punch they needed.

Early, who now has 60 points for the year, scored three times while Phillips threw for two touchdowns and ran for another.

The first tally for J-H was on a three yard run by Early after the Tigers got possession only 10 yards from paydirt when a bad snap on a punting situation by Haynesville gave them the ball there.

Phillips took over here for Jonesboro, tossing to Early for a 37 yard touchdown in the second period and then running 21 yards just before intermission to put Jonesboro ahead 20-0.

Phillips hit end Tommy Wilson with a 24 yard scoring pass in the third frame and Early capped the big night by intercepting a Haynesville pass on the Jonesboro 10 and racing 90 yards to score.

Randy Toms kicked three of five extra points for Jonesboro. The Tigers are now 6-1 overall and 1-0 in district play. Haynesville is 2-5 overall and 1-1 in 2-AA play.

Homecoming Is Slated For Northeast Tonight

By KEITH PRINCE
World Sports Editor

Northeast State, with a Homecoming crowd looking on, faces another Gulf States Conference foe with a perfect league mark tonight—meeting Southeastern in an 8 p.m. contest at Ouachita High Stadium.

The 33rd annual Homecoming tilt will cap a big day of festivities for Northeast State, including a 10 a.m. parade through downtown Monroe.

Once again to have a chance at victory the Tribe will have to halt a terrific back, hard running all-GSC fullback Harry Nunez who is second in the conference with 230 yards on 66 trips for a 3.5 average.

He is behind only one man in the rushing race, Merlin Walet of McNeese who gave the Tribe much trouble last week.

Southeastern under new head coach Pat Kenelly, is 1-0 in GSC play and has the league's second best overall record with 3-1. The Lions were defeated by rugged Southern Mississippi 15-0 in the opener and since have come back to record wins over Southwestern, Howard and Louisiana College.

Meanwhile Northeast opened with a win over southeast Missouri and then bowed to Delta State, Northwestern, Louisiana College and McNeese.

However, last week's effort against league leading McNeese was the Tribe's best of the year.

With freshman quarterback Steve Mansur running the club like a veteran, Northeast marched 84 yards against the rugged McNeese line to score in the second half after being completely stopped the first half.

Mansur accounted for 74 yards on the TD march and showed a lot of poise.

Also playing well was another frosh signal caller Alen Bozeman who leads the club in total offense with 194 yards. Mansur is second with 161.

The Northeast defense is led by linebacker Wayne Cunningham, middle guard Andy Mapp and tackles Preston Hollier and Ron Sunter. These four men have been standouts on defense all year for the Tribe as have a defensive secondary of Alton Thomas, Nic LaBarbera, Thomas Eddleman and Mansur.

Northeast leads the league in pass defense, allowing only 63.8 yards per game against it through the air. Southeastern is second in the league in rushing defense behind Southwestern and McNeese. The Lions have given up an average of 209.0 a game.

Southeastern also has the GSC's top punter in Wayne Sullivan who is averaging 41.3 per kick. Northeast's Larry Juster is fifth with a 38.9 mark and Alton Thomas of NLSC is seventh with a 36.0 mark on seven kicks.

Northeast has not beaten Southeastern since 1958 when the Indians handed the Green and Gold a 22-8 setback in Strawberry Stadium at Hammond. Since that time, SLC has rolled to six straight victories over Northeast and now leads the series, 15-4-3.

At halftime tonight Ida freshman Cheryl McDonald will be crowned Homecoming Queen by Northeast president George T. Walker. Members of the Homecoming court are Maid of Honor Christy Shaw of Coushatta and Maids Gayle Butler of Bernice, Judy Cluchey of Morgan City, Nancy Gray of Monroe and Kathy Moonney and Shirley Nelson, both of Bastrop.

Northeast will end its home season next week against East Carolina of the Southern Conference and then meet Southwestern and Louisiana Tech in road games.

FRESHMAN END Floyd Giblein of Baton Rouge got his college career off to a good start early in the season for Northeast State and will be in action here tonight when the Indians play Southeastern in their homecoming game. Giblein, a 175-pounder, is a regular with the defensive unit.

SWEDISH AID

As a convenience for mothers who travel with small children, certain Swedish trains have recently introduced special suites which include a "tending room" where children can be changed, washed, and fed.

An idea worth copying is their washbasin with both hot and cold water controlled by a foot pedal. This leaves both of mother's hands free to suds and rinse the baby.

BE-WITCH YOUR guests as they enter your "den" with a screech and a howl and a witchy hair-style.

Witchy Halloween Hairstyles For Grown-Up Parties

SPECIAL TO WORLD

Halloween is party time. Not only for kids who enjoy the spoofs and spooks, but also for the grown-ups who can have their share of fun with the ghosts and goblins too.

Pick a new theme for the party. Many have a contest theme, either for a zany costume or for entertainment by each person.

Here's a new idea from Wanda the Witch. Why not have a hair style contest for the ladies—strictly on the Halloween theme, of course. Wanda knows witchcraft and has a few suggestions which can be used to pique the imagination.

Wanda likes being a witch, although she'll readily admit that throughout all of recorded history witches have not been held in very high esteem.

"In fact," says Wanda, "they're downright scary and to be avoided if possible. But at Halloween, well now that's another can of magic, witches really come on strong every October 31st."

One way to test your ideas for hair styles, is by wearing only a plain black mask to cover the eyes. That makes it mandatory for the makeup to coordinate with the hair style.

Here are a few of Wanda's witchy ideas:

(1) The apple bob — if you'd rather bob for real apples and get your hair soaked, then go ahead — this way is much easier. You simply twist the hair into little piglets and tie a small apple to each one . . . make as many as your hair style will allow. Then, there's no problem getting your apples, especially if the hostess doesn't feed you soon enough. Just reach up, take one of your apples and crunch away. Makeup can be bright red apples painted on both cheeks with lipstick.

(2) The broom - straw string — take two - inch long bunches broom straws and tie them with either a string or a rubber band and fasten them on a few strands of hair. If one's hair is long enough, the straw can be hung in kite-tail fashion down one's back. Makeup with this should be brown, orange or black brooms painted on cheeks.

(3) Popcorn pop — Pop 2 cups of corn. Do not salt or butter. String it with heavy thread. Wind it into braids across the top of the head or use it to pile high in upswEEP style. Popcorn beauty mark can be part of the makeup.

(4) Indian feather duster — Get dime store Indian head-dress. Pluck the feathers out — or find your own feathers around the attic. Style hair in simple Indian fashion and using feathers to carry out the theme. Makeup will be simple — Just like any Indian — go as garish as you like.

(5) Witches wig — Get heavy

Genung Home Setting For La Violette

The La Violette Club held its October 21 meeting in the home of Mrs. H. A. Genung with Mrs. L. F. Bewick presiding.

Mrs. V. S. Augsburg, program chairman, presented the guest speaker, Bob Sale. Mr. Sale showed slides of different ways to bring out the best in your picture taking.

Mrs. Bewick introduced the new officers for the coming year. Mrs. Kathleen Ralleigh, president; vice president, Mrs. Sunshine Irvin; secretary, Mrs. Vicki Pogue; treasurer, Mrs. Bernice Young; Mrs. Alice Davidson, historian; reporter, Mrs. B. L. Mulhern; and parliamentarian, Mrs. Bertha Genung.

A new member was welcomed into the club, Mrs. W. M. Greenwell.

Following the meeting refreshments were served to Mrs. Augsburg, Mrs. Fritz Becker, Mrs. Bewick, Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Bert Gambrell, Mrs. Genung, Mrs. A. M. Guerriero, Mrs. R. M. Kettinger, Mrs. Mulhern, Mrs. Pogue, Mrs. Ralleigh, Mrs. Floyd Stone Sr., Mrs. Sam Walker, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Greenwell and Mr. Sale.

black paper and make witches hat. Cut off top. Pull hair through holes in brim of hat with as scraggle look as possible. Cut out bats and goblins and tie them on loose hair ends under hat. Makeup will be witchy — black out a few teeth and use pasty, white makeup.

What about the kids? Well, what about them? They will, as usual, dress up like little imps and race around the neighborhood trying to see who can collect the most goodies, and then probably retire to see who can then consume the most in the shortest time.

Then, watch out for tummy aches.

GOBLIN GOODIES

But let's get back to the grown-ups. They are likely to be hungry, regardless of the contests, games or tricks, so here's a simple menu that should send them home happy and content.

Witches brew — mugs of hot bouillon, to be drunk with the buffet.

Sandwiches — Make a selection of finger sandwiches on white and dark breads — tuna, ham, corn beef, pimento cheese. Trim off all crusts; one large sandwich will make two finger

Girl Reunited With Mother

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — Beaming Linda Lee Ridings, 6, was reunited with her mother Friday and with a child's sometimes unique phrasing exclaimed to newsmen: "I'm welcome to be here!"

The joyous expressions on her face and her mother's seemed to mean that "welcome" meant "glad."

It was their first meeting since Barbara Ridings, 23, reported her blonde, blue-eyed daughter had been kidnaped in June 1961.

Linda was found living with Ramona Dougherty, 41, a full-blooded Indian, her former baby-sitter. Police booked Miss Dougherty on suspicion of kidnaping.

Shortly before the reunion at Juvenile Hall, Mrs. Ridings and her mother, Barbara Papas, 50, broke into tears as a judge awarded temporary custody of the girl to the mother. Superior Court Judge Robert Gardiner directed Mrs. Ridings and her estranged husband, Hubert, 31, to return for a full custody hearing Nov. 12.

Showing up at the Santa Ana Police Station earlier Friday, Ridings had declared: "I want my little girl back."

The judge asked Mrs. Ridings if she had had any other children since Linda disappeared, to share for four years the hard life of a migratory farm worker. "Yes, there have been five other children," the mother replied.

She said they live with her and her mother in Los Angeles.

Linda told officers that she and Miss Dougherty had slept on the ground and in tents at migratory farm camps in the Midwest during the past four years.

SWEDISH AID

As a convenience for mothers who travel with small children, certain Swedish trains have recently introduced special suites which include a "tending room" where children can be changed, washed, and fed.

An idea worth copying is their washbasin with both hot and cold water controlled by a foot pedal. This leaves both of mother's hands free to suds and rinse the baby.

Witchy Halloween Hairstyles For Grown-Up Parties

SPECIAL TO WORLD

Halloween is party time. Not only for kids who enjoy the spoofs and spooks, but also for the grown-ups who can have their share of fun with the ghosts and goblins too.

Pick a new theme for the party. Many have a contest theme, either for a zany costume or for entertainment by each person.

Here's a new idea from Wanda the Witch. Why not have a hair style contest for the ladies—strictly on the Halloween theme, of course. Wanda knows witchcraft and has a few suggestions which can be used to pique the imagination.

Wanda likes being a witch, although she'll readily admit that throughout all of recorded history witches have not been held in very high esteem.

"In fact," says Wanda, "they're downright scary and to be avoided if possible. But at Halloween, well now that's another can of magic, witches really come on strong every October 31st."

One way to test your ideas for hair styles, is by wearing only a plain black mask to cover the eyes. That makes it mandatory for the makeup to coordinate with the hair style.

Here are a few of Wanda's witchy ideas:

(1) The apple bob — if you'd rather bob for real apples and get your hair soaked, then go ahead — this way is much easier. You simply twist the hair into little piglets and tie a small apple to each one . . . make as many as your hair style will allow. Then, there's no problem getting your apples, especially if the hostess doesn't feed you soon enough. Just reach up, take one of your apples and crunch away. Makeup can be bright red apples painted on both cheeks with lipstick.

Dear Abby

Package Deal Marriage Has To Be For Mature

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am thoroughly confused. I have been dating a widower in his middle fifties. He is an attractive, intelligent, well-to-do executive. Yesterday he told me that his sister-in-law (the sister of his deceased wife) who is married, has grown children and lives in Atherton, California, has offered to accompany him on his vacation to Hawaii. He says they will be good company for each other and she is "lots of laughs." Does this sound all right to you, Abby? He says he sees nothing wrong with it as they would have separate rooms. I said I didn't think it was proper for a married woman to vacation with a bachelor and, furthermore, I couldn't understand what kind of a husband would allow it. He said her husband was very "broad-minded." I would like your opinion of this.

"OLD-FASHIONED"

DEAR "OLD-FASHIONED": Maybe her husband has a "broad" in mind he hopes to entertain in his wife's absence. Otherwise, I can't understand it, either. For an attractive, intelligent, well-to-do executive to take "company" to Hawaii, is like carrying coals to Newcastle.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't give me a long lecture on how much children owe their parents her pictures. And if he is accustomed to seeing her face smiling out at him from her picture on his bedroom dresser, it is up to the second wife to adjust to it for his sake. I have seen second wives go into a home and call it hers, when everything in it, including the bed she sleeps in, was paid for by the combined efforts of her husband and his first wife. Still Wife Number Two insists that all the pictures of Wife Number One be put away. Why? If I go first, I want my husband to remarry. But I want him to carry precious memories of me always.

FIRST WIFE

DEAR FIRST WIFE: I am all for "carrying precious memories." But the place to carry them is in one's heart, not on one's sleeve. A second wife who sleeps in the same bed occupied by Wife Number One is well aware of it, and doesn't need a picture in her bedroom as a constant reminder. It's the husband who should "adjust." He is no longer a "widower," but a husband to a woman who has stepped up to home plate with two strikes against her.

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a girl I'll call Lorraine. She is 20 and I am 22. Lorraine is a wonderful girl, and I want to marry her, but here's the problem: She lives with her parents and two little nieces who are four and six. Their mother (Lorraine's sister) took off and can't be located. Lorraine says that when she marries, she will take the little girls with her because her parents are too old and sick to care for them. I admire Lorraine's interest in these kids, but I think I'm too young to take on the job of raising two half-grown children. What is your advice?

BEING PUSHED

DEAR PUSHED: I, too, admire Lorraine. But she needs a mate who is willing to buy the package deal she insists on. Making a marriage deal is difficult enough under normal circumstances, so if you feel that you are "too young" to assume the responsibility of the children, and that you are "being pushed" — back off.

Problems? Write to Abby, News Star. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HOSTESS PANTS

Dress-up jumpsuits will continue to grow as the newest kind of at-home hostess pants. They will appear in sheer matelasse, flat crepes and textured nylons. The young will be wearing stretch lace or floral - print stretch nylon tights with a tunic top over them.

INVERT NIPPLES

To keep baby's rubber nipples sanitary, turn them inside out after using and wash them with hot soap or detergent suds. Then they can be boiled along with the bottles before making the next batch of formula.

Fluffy Cashmere For Fall

NEW YORK — An engaging smile—an irrepressibly lighthearted charm—a moment of soft, innocent reflection—these are the gentle, feminine moods of cashmere for fall.

Fashion benefits from the resurging importance of the luxuriously fluffy yarn, and the benefit is passed on to the fashionable in a way that gives it never-ending worth—she can never forget she's a woman.

Imaginity describes the excitement that has been injected into fashion by refreshing new ideas in cashmere. From the masters, new concepts in cashmere trim—with bold crocheted pattern, filigree laces and fluffy ruffles—turn marvelous tricks with already fashion-satisfying sweaters.

Gentle filigree pattern enhances a sleeveless top in the purest of white, and a filmy aura of soft elegance is inspired. The same pattern on a three-quarter sleeve pullover is further dressed with a cashmere bow at the neck, and then matched with a knitted cashmere skirt to create a look of unsurpassed beauty. Knitted cashmere laces and bold crocheted patterns are used expertly by stylists to add delightfully varying feelings to V-necks, cowl collars, and neat round necklines. One minute it's crocheted racing down the front of a self buttoned cardigan—the next the fashionable autumn shopper finds giddy laces and bows of cashmere orbiting sleeves and necklines—all in the spirit that assures a feminine fall.

Cashmere speaks well for womanhood. This fall will see increasing numbers of fashionable women return the respect.

Homemaking Questions

By BETTY PEPIS

Q: I would appreciate some help with a newly decorated bedroom which is somewhat of a disappointment. Walls and woodwork are a grayed blue, draperies are in a white ground print with blue and lilac flowers. Bedspread is white, dust ruffle is lilac. Room lacks "zip" and needs an accent color. I can re-do a chair.

A: Introduce a citrus yellow for scatter rugs, chair cover, also for lamps and accessories.

Q: Walls in our living room are beige. Draperies have a beige ground with rich green, yellow and pale orange predominating. Rug is a mixture of greens and a soft, muted orange. Furniture is Early American. Sofa is now brown, a chair is gold and another is in a gold, provincial print. While I like these colors, I feel room needs something to liven it up. Room has some green plants. Would yellow throw pillows help?

A: Cover sofa in beige and the two chairs in soft orange. Yes, have bright yellow for pillows and some orange ones too for the sofa. Pick up these colors for other accessories.

Hints From Heloise

Vegetable Oil Will Remove Asphalt Spots

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: I am the mother of four little boys. I know you will understand when I say we have spots on our asphalt tile in the bathroom. Have you ever found anything that will remove these spots? I have tried everything. Appreciative

Dear Mother-of-Four: I think I have the answer. This has worked every time I've tried it, or advised others who have written to me (as you did), to do so, and they have told me that it also worked for them: Go to your kitchen cabinet and get some liquid (not solid) vegetable oil (brand makes no difference), and put a dab of it on a piece of tissue. Rub that white spot on your asphalt tile briskly for a minute or so. Go on with your regular work, and forget about the spot for a few hours. Come back and do the same thing over again. Remember to rub it hard and fast, as the friction from rubbing will lend heat to the white mark. Bet you a cup of coffee that the marks will be gone—if they haven't been there too long. If they are old stains, it may take several applications. Now, you will find your asphalt floor will have all the color brought back to it, and you will want to do the whole floor with the vegetable oil. DON'T! This procedure is to be applied ONLY where there are white stains on asphalt. Stains are often caused on asphalt tile in the kitchen when we spill vinegar and certain foods on it.

KEEP TRIM

Before wetting or sudsing decorated garments, be sure to remove any "perishable" trim—such as buttons and buckles which can't stand hot water or friction, non-colorfast emblems, and shoulder pads which tend to stain because they dry slowly.

MOVING HINT

If you're planning to move have some masking tape available to secure lids, drawers, seal cartons, tape screws on to mirrors, etc.

Dear Heloise: Instead of baking cakes in the usual fashion, by greasing and flouring the bake pans, I just lightly grease them, tear off a piece of foil, and use my fingers to line and shape the foil to the pan. Works wonderfully because, when the cake is removed from the oven, it drops right out! Never sticks. I remove the foil while the cake is still slightly warm and it comes off easily.

M. D. S.

It works! Heloise

Dear Heloise: Now, don't break an ankle to test this—just take my word for it—it works! I had the misfortune of a broken ankle a few years ago, and couldn't even stand the bed covers on it, so I put a waste basket under the covers and stuck my foot in it. Then did get some sleep!

Grace Forness

Dear Heloise: We lost the sprinkler attachment on our watering can. In its place, I wrapped a double-thickness piece of plastic over the open neck of the can

READY TO EXPLORE interesting terrain. This sleek, unfettered look is lightweight "Puff" backed with cotton knit. Black trim enhances the brilliant white. The dress also comes in shocking pink and turquoise.

(where the sprinkler fastens to the can), and secured it with a rubber band. I then punctured the plastic with an ice pick to make holes for the water to come through. It works just fine. Mrs. Carol Connelly I tried it, and it works just great! Heloise

Dear Heloise: For those who make jack-o-lanterns from real pumpkins for their children, but who have trouble with the tops burning and falling in... try lining the covers with aluminum foil. It works perfectly. Be sure to cut two or three holes for the heat to escape! Linda

State Should Have School Burdens

BATON ROUGE (AP)—A survey showed Friday most of a 125-citizen committee studying public schools of Louisiana believe the state should have prime responsibility for financing public education.

But most believe teacher qualifications should be made more strict.

Education Supt. William J. Dodd reported on answers to a questionnaire sent to members of the committee on various aspects of public education.

The questions touched on free lunch supplies, enrichment programs, compulsory education, curriculum, length of school terms and major responsibility in education.

Results of the survey were released in advance of today's meeting here of the citizens committee, named by Dodd upon approval of a study of course offerings by the legislature and the State Board of Education.

The committee will divide into subcommittees today and take a close look at courses in elementary and high schools.

In the opinion survey, 54 committee members wanted to extend the school term from nine to 10 months, 22 wanted it kept as is, 36 wanted it extended to 12 months and none favored reducing it.

A majority of 53 said school attendance should be compulsory through high school, 33 voted for compulsory education to age 16. Nineteen said attendance for all normal children should be left to the discretion of school officials, and one said parents should have sole discretion.

Name Switching May Be Due

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If Columbus didn't discover America, this country could be in for a lot of name-switching.

Already a couple of Ohio State University students want to put Ericson on the map by rechristening the Ohio capital named for the Italian discoverer who, it's now discovered, may not have discovered much.

"Think of all the employment it will be for map makers," said Gary S. Horowitz, a graduate student in history who has joined with R. Vladimir Steffel to circulate petitions proposing to rename Columbus for Leif Ericson, a Norseman who is reported to have landed in America a long time before the Italian got adventurous.

The students say their campaign is catching on. But not at City Hall.

"I think those students would be a lot better off if they would spend a little more time on their studies," said Columbus Mayor M.E. Sensenbrenner. "You bet I'll fight to keep the name of Columbus."

William Hellerman, president of the Columbus Day U.S.A. Association, was less riled but no less determined.

"Let them have a little fun," he said of the students.

But he added: "I'm for keeping the name of Columbus. After all we have all that stationary printed."

What stirred the students, was word that Yale University had a map proving conclusively that Ericson "discovered" America about 600 years before Columbus.

Renaming cities and streets and so on in the interest of historical accuracy could pose problems.

How, for instance, would you break the news to the sweet young thing recently named Miss Columbus of all the Miss Columbuses from all the American towns of that name?

Some companies, too, would have to be renamed — though Columbus Blank Book Co. and Columbus Buggy Parts Co. would still be Columbus and Buggy Parts companies whether the city was named after Columbus or just Discoverer.

Changing signs, printing new letterheads and revising telephone listings, though, might start a bigger economic boom than the largest shot ever fired in the war on poverty.

Even if the name game could be won, monumental problems would remain.

Specifically, what would a city called Ericson do with a towering statue of Christopher Columbus which now shadows the civic laws?

"Maybe," suggested Horowitz, "Iceland will send us a Viking ship."

Negro Marchers Are Attacked

LINCOLNTON, Ga. (AP) — About 30 cursing, yelling white persons attacked a group of Negro protest marchers Friday, scattering them in all directions.

"Kill the niggers, kill them!" the whites shouted as they charged about 95 teen-age Negroes at a stop light on the town's main street.

The Negroes were marching from a Negro church to the Lincoln County Courthouse, where they planned a demonstration against segregation. But they turned back when advised by state troopers to do so.

More than 100 white spectators shouted at the Negroes and the troopers as the officers tried to restore order.

"You're going to get it, too," one white man told a newsman. The incident started when a double file of marchers reached a stop light at an intersection after a peaceful march of about a mile from the Negro First Baptist Church.

The head of the line had just crossed the main highway through the town when white youths ran from a crowd across the street and knocked to the ground Edward Bedford, 23, a civil rights worker leading the march.

About 30 more whites charged the marchers, scattering the first half of the line and beating some with their fists.

At the same time a white man in a green pickup truck went through a spotlight at high speed and apparently tried to run down some of the marchers. The man turned his truck around and came back for another try but was stopped by state troopers.

About five troopers gathered the Negroes on one side of the highway and the whites on the other.

The whites pushed forward yelling, "Come on back, niggers."

"You want freedom, come and get it," the Negroes turned around and filed back to the church. No arrests were made.

No violence erupted about an hour after the first incident when a group of white youths tried to pull a Negro from a car.

The Negro was one of several in the car taking one marcher home. He said the white youths had come up and tried to pull him out of the car but he quickly drove off. The car's radio antenna was broken.

Afterwards about five cars occupied by whites followed the Negroes' car out of town toward the Negro church. The whites threw soft-drink bottles, which struck the car and another car driven by a Negro.

Civil rights workers restrained Negro youths from throwing bottles at the white youths' cars as they turned and roared back to town.

About eight demonstrators reported bruises and other minor injuries after they said they had been pushed, struck or kicked.

The Rev. Charles Brown, a Southern Christian Leadership Conference worker, who was beaten here by two white men Wednesday, said demonstrations might be called off today but would resume Sunday.

Brown, who has been organizing demonstrations here since last Thursday, said that Negroes and civil rights workers will be brought in from surrounding counties.

About half of the 655 pupils at the Negro West Side High School here have been staying away from classes since last week.

LINCOLNTON, Ga. (AP) — About 30 cursing, yelling white persons attacked a group of Negro protest marchers Friday, scattering them in all directions.

"Kill the niggers, kill them!" the whites shouted as they charged about 95 teen-age Negroes at a stop light on the town's main street.

The Negroes were marching from a Negro church to the Lincoln County Courthouse, where they planned a demonstration against segregation. But they turned back when advised by state troopers to do so.

More than 100 white spectators shouted at the Negroes and the troopers as the officers tried to restore order.

"You're going to get it, too," one white man told a newsman. The incident started when a double file of marchers reached a stop light at an intersection after a peaceful march of about a mile from the Negro First Baptist Church.

The head of the line had just crossed the main highway through the town when white youths ran from a crowd across the street and knocked to the ground Edward Bedford, 23, a civil rights worker leading the march.

About 30 more whites charged the marchers, scattering the first half of the line and beating some with their fists.

At the same time a white man in a green pickup truck went through a spotlight at high speed and apparently tried to run down some of the marchers. The man turned his truck around and came back for another try but was stopped by state troopers.

About five troopers gathered the Negroes on one side of the highway and the whites on the other.

The whites pushed forward yelling, "Come on back, niggers."

"You want freedom, come and get it," the Negroes turned around and filed back to the church. No arrests were made.

No violence erupted about an hour after the first incident when a group of white youths tried to pull a Negro from a car.

The Negro was one of several in the car taking one marcher home. He said the white youths had come up and tried to pull him out of the car but he quickly drove off. The car's radio antenna was broken.

Afterwards about five cars occupied by whites followed the Negroes' car out of town toward the Negro church. The whites threw soft-drink bottles, which struck the car and another car driven by a Negro.

Civil rights workers restrained Negro youths from throwing bottles at the white youths' cars as they turned and roared back to town.

About eight demonstrators reported bruises and other minor injuries after they said they had been pushed, struck or kicked.

The Rev. Charles Brown, a Southern Christian Leadership Conference worker, who was beaten here by two white men Wednesday, said demonstrations might be called off today but would resume Sunday.

Brown, who has been organizing demonstrations here since last Thursday, said that Negroes and civil rights workers will be brought in from surrounding counties.

About half of the 655 pupils at the Negro West Side High School here have been staying away from classes since last week.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 10-23.

The rioting first erupted in a populous district of this town when French gendarmes arrested Pierre Marny, 22, who escaped from the Central Prison Oct. 10.

Write or call "Mr. Editor, Tell Me, Please" at the Morning World and News-Star. We'll be glad to get the information and pass it along to you in this column.

What was the date of the Democratic primary for governor in 1963? The first primary was on Saturday, Dec. 7.

Is there a firm or corporation by the name of American Steel Company? If so, what is the address? The local office of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc., reports that no such firm is listed on the American exchange. New York exchange or in the Standard & Poor guide.

Who gave the people permission to park on the old Central School grounds? Wasn't that to be a park for people, not cars? Major George Whitlow, head of the traffic division of the Monroe police department, said parking is being allowed on the block because of construction work on Oak Street. This construction has temporarily closed many parking spaces near the St. Francis Hospital, already an acute parking area.

When the construction is completed, and the regular parking spaces are reopened, the parking on the block will be eliminated, and the area made available for the proposed city park.

What is the correct home address of Edwin Way Teale, well-known naturalist and author of the recent best-seller, "Wandering Through Winter"?

"Trailwood" in Hampton, Conn. His publisher, Dodd, Mead and Co., is at 432 4th Ave., New York, N.Y.

If a person leases a plot of land and builds a house on it with the agreement he was to live in the house as long as he wanted, but moves out, can he rent the house for cash to someone else even if he still has the lease on it? The agreement was that the house was to go to the owner of the land if this party moved.

This question involves a legal technicality and cannot be answered from the information supplied here. We suggest that you present the full details of the case to an attorney and let him advise you.

A while back an ordinance was passed concerning salesmen going to peoples' homes in town and trying to sell their products. The ordinance states that a salesman can come only by appointment.

Does this also apply to salesmen who come to retail businesses? What about peddlers who come out in the country and want to fix stoves, roofs, or sell linoleum remnants?

How does the ordinance apply to insurance salesmen, apple peddlers and cosmetic salespeople? If a manufacturer wishes to sell a new product to a retail store and it is not to be resold, but is for the personal use of the store only, then would a salesman be allowed to show this product to the store manager without a special appointment?

In obtaining further information concerning this ordinance, who would I talk to in Monroe or West Monroe?

This letter was postmarked West Monroe, so we assume the questioner would be concerned about the law in that city.

West Monroe has a "Green River" ordinance which provides that "any door-to-door solicitation for sales or business of any type is illegal in West Monroe," according to City Atty. Charles Traylor.

He added that "a wholesaler should encounter no difficulty in doing business with retail merchants, providing he is a licensed wholesaler."

You can read the entire ordinances at the Monroe and West Monroe police departments.

Upon the death of a man who has been married more than once, who has the privilege or the right to the cards that come with the flowers at his funeral — his present wife, his former wife, or his children? Also, where is the former wife's place in the procession and at the church?

The present wife would have absolute charge of funeral arrangements, answered a local funeral home director. The former wife would be just an other visitor.

How are schools classified, as in Triple-A, Double-A, A, B, etc? What are the requirements for qualification for each class?

The Louisiana High School Athletic Association classifies member schools according to the number of boys enrolled in high school without regard to their athletic ability.

Schools with an enrollment of boys 49 and under are Class C, those with enrollments of 50 to 115 are Class B, the Class A bracket is 116 to 200, double-A for 201 to 400, and triple-A for those schools with 401 boys or more.

A school is not permitted to compete in athletics in a class lower than its classification figures rate it, but a school, by application, can participate in a class higher than its own enrollment calls for.

Kennedy Says Viet Nam Needs Economic Aid

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said Friday the deaths of American soldiers in Viet Nam will be in vain unless the United States increases its economic assistance to the war-torn Southeast Asia nation.

Kennedy, addressing the International Radio and TV Society at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, said that if the nations bordering Communist China do not offer their people meaningful progress they eventually will be swallowed up by communism.

He said it was the responsibility of the rich nations of the world — the United States, Japan, and those in Western Europe — to increase their technical and capital assistance to the poorer countries.

"If we cannot do better than we are doing," he said, "then the lives of our sons in Viet Nam will have been spent in vain — and the lives of all our children will be endangered."

"Communist China has repeatedly stated its dedication to international conquest," Kennedy said. "But we also know from Chinese dogma that no premium is placed upon quick victory. If the Chinese strategy does not change... the struggle will go on for years."

"If the people of India, or Pakistan, or Burma do not believe their system is worth fighting for, each new crisis — whether it comes five years from now or 10 years from now — will raise the question of our military intervention."

He said the world is in the midst of a revolution by the emerging and poverty stricken nations, "a revolution directed against us — against the one-third of the world that diets while others starve."

Kennedy particularly singled out the world's ever-increasing need for food.

How To Keep Well

By DR. VAN DELLEN

TINEA CAPITIS

Ringworm of the scalp is a common disorder in children. This is understandable because the small fry are careless and are not much for this highly contagious condition. Youngsters try on one another's headgear, and a towel is something with which to dry the hands and face without regard to who used it before. The same can be said of the comb and brush.

Ringworm is a misnomer, as the causative agent is not a worm but a fungus, and the lesions are seldom ring-shaped. They usually begin as small coin-sized or irregular patches on the scalp. The involved hairs lack luster and snap off close to the scalp.

They have the appearance of having been nibbled off to produce the effect of partial baldness. The patches are covered with minute, whitish, or slate-colored scales. Various degrees of inflammation usually are present and the bald spots itch when the scalp is dry.

Many schools insist upon periodic check ups with a special (Wood's) ultraviolet light. The room is darkened and the rays are directed to the scalp. The infected hairs and scales become fluorescent. The normal scalp does not fluoresce demonstrating why this technic is so useful in detecting ringworm.

Furthermore, the light serves as a guide to denote progress. Screening all children and members of infected children's families is the best way to uncover carriers and control epidemiology. hie oral antifungal agent, is the best remedy. The active organisms disappear after three weeks of treatment but an additional three weeks is recommended to eliminate fungi living on the dead hairs. Some physicians also recommend shaving the scalp at the end of the third week because some of the previously infected hairs tend to curl over and break off. These are capable of spreading the disease to other members of the household.

RIGHT-SIDED NUMBNESS
A. McA. writes: My husband developed numbness around the right side of his mouth and in the fingers of his right hand. There is no paralysis. He says it feels as tho he had had a shot of cocaine. No other part of his body is affected. Could this mean he had a slight stroke?

REPLY
Yes, but other disturbances of the nervous system are capable of doing the same.

SCAR TISSUE
M. M. B. writes: What causes adhesions after an abdominal operation?

REPLY
These lesions represent scar tissue that forms in the abdominal cavity after inflammation surgery. Adhesions are trouble some only when they lead to kinking or pinching off the bow el. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on abdominal adhesions.

DON'T USE FORCE
Mrs. J. writes: A left handed child started to stutter after being forced to use his right hand. Would making him return to the use of his left hand cure the speech defect?

REPLY
No, because stuttering usually results from an anxiety reaction that may be kept alive thru the use of force. "Making him return to..." is an example.

Alabama Senate Turns Down Succession Bill

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A constitutional amendment which would have allowed Gov. George C. Wallace to succeed himself in office was beaten Friday in a final showdown vote in the State Senate. Wallace forces fell 3 votes short of the necessary 21 votes.

It was seen as a major political setback for Wallace, who called the Legislature into special session to consider the bitterly fought succession issue.

Walker's Rallying Speech In Record

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Edwin A. Walker's rallying speech in advance of the 1962 University of Mississippi riots was put into the record Friday at the trial of his $3 million libel suit.

The tall former Army major general, during daylong cross examination, confirmed that he said in a television speech in his home in Dallas three days before the riot.

"Bring your flag, your tent and your skillet. It is now or never. The time is when and if the President of the United States commits or uses any troops, federal or state in Mississippi."

"This is a cause for freedom. This is a cause for Americans, patriotic Americans from all over the nation; it is a movement for freedom. And I will be there."

"Now is the time to be heard. Thousands strong from every state in the union, rally to the cause of freedom."

Walker, 55, is suing The Associated Press and The Times-Picayune Publishing Corp. He claims AP stories falsely depicted him as assuming command of students Sept. 30, 1962 in the desegregation riots of Ole Miss, and leading them in a charge.

Walker testified that he was not invited to the university by anyone. When asked why he went there, the witness replied: "I considered the use of federal troops as appalling and amazing—their use for political purposes."

Walker said he wanted to see for myself what was happening because you can't believe a word of the press was saying."

The defense expects to open its case Monday when the hearing resumes in the Caddo Parish civil court before an all-male jury. Trial began Oct. 11.

Ouachita Grand Jury Finds 11 True Bills

The Ouachita Parish Grand Jury returned 11 true bills in cases under investigation, nine no true bills and two were left pretermitted, or undecided. The jury's report came late Friday in Fourth District Court. The fall jury session began Monday.

The jury also put its stamp of approval on the operation of parish and state-owned institutions. Those that fall within the jury's responsibility include the parish courthouse, jail and jail extension, Green Oaks Detention Home, E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital and Louisiana Training Institute.

Indictments returned by the jury were Floyd S. Allen, 30, of 300 Michael St., Monroe, and Jewel A. Wright, 30, of 302

Wheeler St., West Monroe, both charged with aggravated kidnapping and attempted aggravated rape.

Allen and Wright are charged in connection with an incident involving 19 and 13-year-old Negro girls. According to the sheriff's department, the two girls were picked up in an auto by a man on the pretext of having them babysit on Oct. 12. The first man was joined by another and the two girls were taken to a secluded spot. The older girl fled and the rape attempt was made on the younger of the pair, reports said.

Indicted for murder was Jesse Thomas of 203 1/2 N. 14th St., Monroe. Truebills on counts of indecent behavior with a juvenile were returned on William E. Gullette of 327 McGuire St., Monroe, and Paschal E. Redding of 2013 Sherwood Ave., Monroe. Indicted for manslaughter was Eddie Harris.

Indicted for negligent homicide were Floyd Owens Jr., Robert Bruce Taylor and Claude McComb.

Of Parish institutions, the jury said: "We have inspected the E. A. Conway Memorial Charity Hospital and find it to be maintained in a commendable condition, in spite of the handicaps created by the continued overcrowded conditions and the lack of adequate staff. We further commend the staff for its loyalty, devotion to duty and maximum effort to aid in overcoming these handicaps. We wish to recommend to the proper authorities that serious consideration be given to air conditioning the existing wards; that the kitchen facilities and space be increased and modernized; that a minimum of 100 additional bed space be provided; and that the parking conditions be improved in space and safety provisions."

"The Louisiana Training Institute was inspected. Superintendent Swanson and his staff once again are highly commended for the very excellent job which they have been doing and are now doing in their supervision and training of the boys, and for the physical condition of the plant. Full credit for the fine morale and conditions existing at this institution must be given to the outstanding executive and leadership ability of the superintendent and his staff."

"We have inspected the Green Oaks Detention Home and find the management very good and that the buildings and equipment are in excellent condition."

Monroe police Friday cleared up a theft minutes after it happened with the arrest of a Mississippi man.

Minutes before 10:30 a.m., police received a report of a radio theft from the lobby of the Majestic Hotel in Monroe. While the card on the report was being typed, another call came in, this one from a downtown pawn shop about a suspicious person attempting to pawn a radio.

Officers answering the call said they found Robert V. Sterlington, 57, of McComb, Miss., at the shop with the stolen radio. He was booked with theft.

In other action, Monroe police booked Richard J. Lynott, Bon Air Hall, Monroe, with theft by shoplifting.

Charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages in Monroe was John H. Martin, 47, of 414 Pine St., West Monroe, apprehended on Sixth Street at 5:30 p.m.

Lawrence Franks, 22, of Calhoun was charged with aggravated battery.

Charged with two counts of disturbing the peace, resisting arrest and indecent exposure was Nolan Hollin, 20, of 42A Ray Dr., Monroe. Booked with disturbing the peace and indecent exposure was Ben F. Blackmon, 38, of Delhi.

Vice chairman of the Louisiana Board of Highways, James W. Moore of Monroe, will speak today at the closing session of the week-long annual convention of the Associated General Contractors of Louisiana.

Moore will speak at the noon session at the Capitol House Hotel in Baton Rouge, on the state's scheduled highway department programs.

He will tell of the bids he anticipates to be let during the coming year and will "encourage the contractors of the future of the accelerated highway program of the next fiscal year," he said.

Moore said he anticipates highway bid-letting during November to exceed $27 million in the state, to follow 42 October projects let in the state.

As vice chairman of the Mississippi River Bridge Authority, Moore will report on the projected plans for the new bridge over the Mississippi River at New Orleans, he said.

Some $170,000 in drainage projects to next year in the parish will be financed by the parish and the Department of Public Works, including Grand Bayou, Petticoat Bayou and a Ward 2 canal near the Stubbs Pecan Orchard.

Man Charged With Murder Surrenders

ST. SIMONS ISLAND, Ga. (UPI)—Glynn County police said artist Donald Duckworth, charged with murdering his elderly father who was a brother of Georgia's Supreme Court chief justice, surrendered Friday at a Seattle, Wash., hospital.

A warrant charging the 38-year-old son with murdering Vester Duckworth, 73, was sworn out a few hours after an autopsy showed Duckworth was strangled.

Duckworth's brother, William H. Duckworth, 74, is the state supreme court chief justice. The justice said he was sure the murdered man was his brother from information from a sister, Mrs. L. D. Snow of Clayton, Ga., who identified the body.

Glynn County Police Chief O. E. Burch said the son surrendered at Kings County Hospital in Seattle. The hospital has a mental ward where he sought treatment.

Burch said Duckworth was strangled with what appeared to be a venetian blind cord about Oct. 15. The cord was still around his throat when officers found the badly decomposed body Thursday in a beach cottage.

Burch said officers went to the cottage on a tip from an Atlanta minister, who did not want his name made public. Donald Duckworth and his wife Betty both called the minister about 1:30 p.m. Thursday, it was reported.

Duckworth has a history of several admissions to mental hospitals, sounded hysterical. His wife, from whom he had been separated about a month, became frightened because of his despondent state.

She called a doctor who insisted he go to Kings Hospital. At 5:30 p.m. she telephoned the minister again and told him of the murder story.

Seattle police, acting on information from the FBI, located Duckworth at the hospital and arrested him. He was brought to Seattle jail and held without bond for Georgia authorities.

Burch said Donald rented the cottage about Oct. 1 and his father joined him about two weeks ago.

Donald was an artist who made mosaic murals. An unfinished mural of Christ was found in the cottage by police.

Indicted for murder was Jesse Thomas of 203 1/2 N. 14th St., Monroe. Truebills on counts of indecent behavior with a juvenile were returned on William E. Gullette of 327 McGuire St., Monroe, and Paschal E. Redding of 2013 Sherwood Ave., Monroe. Indicted for manslaughter was Eddie Harris.

Indicted for negligent homicide were Floyd Owens Jr., Robert Bruce Taylor and Claude McComb.

Of Parish institutions, the jury said: "We have inspected the E. A. Conway Memorial Charity Hospital and find it to be maintained in a commendable condition, in spite of the handicaps created by the continued overcrowded conditions and the lack of adequate staff. We further commend the staff for its loyalty, devotion to duty and maximum effort to aid in overcoming these handicaps. We wish to recommend to the proper authorities that serious consideration be given to air conditioning the existing wards; that the kitchen facilities and space be increased and modernized; that a minimum of 100 additional bed space be provided; and that the parking conditions be improved in space and safety provisions."

"The Louisiana Training Institute was inspected. Superintendent Swanson and his staff once again are highly commended for the very excellent job which they have been doing and are now doing in their supervision and training of the boys, and for the physical condition of the plant. Full credit for the fine morale and conditions existing at this institution must be given to the outstanding executive and leadership ability of the superintendent and his staff."

Jail Sentences Given 36 Young Demonstrators

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Thirty-six young people, mostly University of Michigan students, were sentenced to 10-day jail terms Friday for their anti-Viet Nam sit-in last Friday at the Ann Arbor Draft Board office.

The defendants, charged with trespassing, also were assessed fines and court costs totaling $65 each.

If the fines and costs are not paid, 10 days more in jail must be served.

Municipal Judge Francis L. O'Brien rejected a plea that the defendant students be permitted to serve their jail terms during the university Christmas holidays so they would not lose school time.

"You can't use force, and this sit-in was one of force," O'Brien said.

"They (the defendants) inflicted the academic penalties on themselves when they decided to break the law," he added. "That was their decision. This is mine."

O'Brien addressed his remarks to the group's attorney, Peter Darrow.

Police carried some of the demonstrators bodily out of the Draft Board office when they refused to leave. The demonstrators were protesting U.S. policy in the war in Viet Nam.

Upon being denied his plea for a leave on the serving of sentences until the holidays, Darrow announced he would appeal the penalties but then would withdraw the appeal just before the holidays.

O'Brien ordered the release of all the defendants on $100 bond each pending the appeals.

Iowa Student Arrested For Burning ID

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Two FBI agents arrested a University of Iowa sophomore late Friday on a warrant charging him with destroying his draft card.

Stephen Smith, 20, of Marion, Iowa, who burned what he said was his draft card Wednesday before a gathering estimated at 100 persons to protest U.S. Viet Nam policies, was arrested at the apartment of friends.

He then was taken by car to Davenport where a hearing was scheduled before U.S. Commissioner A. Fred Berger.

Smith is the second student to be arrested in the United States this week on draft-card burning charges. The first was David J. Miller, 22, of Syracuse, N. Y., who destroyed a draft card near an armed forces induction center in New York City.

Under a new law signed Aug. 30, deliberate destruction of a draft card carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a fine of $10,000 upon conviction.

Before accompanying the agents, Smith wrote a statement: "I have decided to stay in jail until such time as the students feel they wish to contribute to my bail. I am doing this as a moral confrontation. I can't help but think there are students who feel as I do. Your vote in raising funds will be a vote of moral backing. This is my request. The decision is yours."

Shortly before Smith was taken into custody, a University of Iowa graduate student walked into The Daily Iowan with the charred remains of a draft card he said he had "burned privately this afternoon."

He identified himself as Stan Witkowski, 23, of Rockford, Ill., married, father of two children and a graduate student in anthropology.

Smith was protesting U.S. action in Viet Nam, but Witkowski was critical mainly of the new federal law making destruction of a draft card punishable by up to five years in prison.
